Thousands turn out for Kara

PEDAL POWER. Seventy-two cyclists made the remarkable trip from Medford to Wilmington on Mother's Day, all in the name of Kara Irving. Their journey, which kicked off at the Medford Fire Station, helped raise $23,000 for donor testing and hospital expenses for Kara. To participate in the bike-a-thon, riders needed a sponsorship of $100 or more. The Professional Fire Fighters of Massachusetts worked tirelessly to help put the event together. More information about the organization can be accessed at its website, www.pffm.org.

THIS PICTURE SAYS IT ALL. Kara Irving, right, and her parents, Jean and Jerry, were clearly moved by the outpouring of love and support offered to their family by the thousands of participants at Kara's Bone Marrow drive on Mother's Day.

WILMINGTON What started out as a small idea of hope by a group of eight soon blossomed into a multicompany effort. The event, a combination fundraiser and bone marrow donor drive organized to help Kara Irving, a 19 year old with Leukemia in desperate need of a bone marrow transplant, was attended by close to 3000 people.

Kara was diagnosed with AMS, acute myelogenous leukemia, earlier this spring. The disease is a result of chemotherapy during her freshman year to combat Ewing's sarcoma, a rare and often fatal childhood cancer. To survive, she needs a bone marrow transplant.

Over $61,000 was raised from raffles and donations to help defray the costs of donor testing and hospital costs. 2,801 people signed up and were screened to become potential bone marrow donors.

An enormous flag, draped above the road at the finish line and held up by ladders extended from Wilmington and Burlington fire trucks, greeted the bicycle riders at the end of their route. The 72 bicycle riders in the bike-a-thon part of the event raised $23,000 of the total.

"I'm overwhelmed with everyone's generosity," said 19 year old Kara Irving. Kara, in recovery from chemotherapy to keep the Leukemia in remission until a suitable bone marrow donor can be found, insisted on attending the immense fund-raising event on Mother's Day at the Wilmington High School. Accompanied by her father, mother and grandparents, Kara took a seat behind the raffle table and greeted those in attendance.

"She is a wonderful caring, young girl," Sara Cosman, Wilmington High School Teacher and volunteer at the event said. "This turnout has renewed my faith in humankind and renewed my faith in the community."

"It was an awesome turnout,

School Committee

School choice – "No"

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - The School Committee has made its choice on the issue of School Choice.

At its May 10 meeting, the committee voted against implementing the School Choice Program within the school system. The program, which runs state-wide, allows parents to send their children to any public school within the Commonwealth. Individual communities, however, can choose whether or not they would like to participate in the program.

Superintendent of Schools Geraldine O'Donnell recommended to the members of the School Committee that they vote against participating in the program.

Asked School Committee member Nora Zinan, "What would be the rationale behind voting 'no'?"

O'Donnell answered that all schools within the community are planned for the number of teachers who are currently employed throughout the system. A class-size ratio reflecting the number of students to one teacher has been already worked into place.

"For example," answered especially on Mother's Day, to get out and give of yourself," said Jeanne Faticanti, volunteer. "It's a nice thing to do."

The number of phlebotomists increased from 12 to 20 to accommodate the large crowd. A raffle table loaded with prizes had buckets, placed in front of each prize for a chance to win it. Some raffle items were multiples and had their raffles drawn every halfhour or hour. A handmade quilt donated by Kara's grandmother was among the raffle prizes.

Sponsors for the event included B & D House of Carpets, the Girl Scouts from North Andover, Murray Supply Corporation from

MEET WILMINGTON'S LATEST "GOOD GUY." Joan Searfoss was given the Annual Good Guy Award by State Representative John Tierney. The honor has been bestowed on Searfoss for her commitment and hard work in the community. (Maureen Lamoureux photo)

By CHRISTINE FARESE

WILMINGTON - Friday, May 12th, marked the 34th Annual Good Guy Award Dinner, which took place at the Wilmington Knights of Columbus Hall. This year's recipient was Joan Searfoss.

The Good Guy Award is given to a member of the community who displays involvement in the community above and beyond the call of duty. Letters are sent in to a committee to nominate an individual and then, the committee selects a recipient. Once the individual is selected the recipient is not told, but rather is surprised upon entering the hall.

Governor asks for EPA superfund

Rocco's Landfill could get on the list of EPA Superfund sites.

In a letter released by the Environmental Protection Agency Governor Celluci has requested that the Rocco's Landfill and the adjacent area in Wilmington off McDonald Road be included on the National Priorities List (NPL) of Superfund sites. In the letter the Governor states, "The close proximity of the Rocco's Landfill and McDonald Road disposal areas, along with the similarity in contamination and in the method of disposal, suggest that these three areas are likely one site."

While work has already begun on the site, inclusion on the list of Superfund sites could hasten the work by infusing money from the federal government. Work has begun on the Wilmington side and is expected to soon begin on the Tewksbury side - Rocco's Landfill. Materials found on the site will be put into barrels and removed by truck.

The area between McDonald Road in Wilmington and South Street in Tewksbury was not only used as Tewksbury's town dump for years but also private parties trucked in many barrels of unknown substances, often either dumping the contents or leaving the barrels to rot and then spew their contents. Trucks would reportedly enter the property in the dead of night or on weekends.

In recent years the area has been eyed by the DEP and EPA. The Rocco's Landfill was capped in the 80's. It is feared that contaminants could be leaking into the Shawsheen River and surrounding swampland. The request inclusion on the National Priorities list is for the Rocco's site and would exclude the McDonald Road area if it proves that the removal actions now underway are successful.

LUXURY CARS VS. SUVs

Nobody loved the luxury-car tax, added onto cars costing more than $30,000, back in 1991. At that point, the bite was 10 percent of the over-$30,000 cost, and even the wealthiest buyers resented it. Since then, the threshold has risen to $36,000 and, since August 1996, the tax rate has fallen. It dropped to 5 percent in January, on costs over $38,000, and is due to expire at the end of 2002.

At the same time, the luxury-car rules limit the amount that can be written off on a car used for business that costs more than about $16,000.

But there's a loophole big enough to drive a sport utility vehicle through. Neither the tax nor the limit on writeoffs applies to vehicles with loaded weights of more than 6,000 pounds—like large SUVs. Not only does the buyer avoid the luxury-car tax, a new SUV used for business can be expensed ($20,000 for cars put into service this year), and a first-year depreciation deduction taken.

Count on our accounting knowhow to help keep your business costs in line. You can depend on the tax professionals at

2,801 Good Guys

By JAMIE POTE

A little more than four years ago, the Wilmington High girls' soccer team wrapped up their regular season with a home match. Throughout that game, there was a large sign pinned up against the chain-link fence that read "Good Luck Kara."

Kara Irving was a freshman member of that team. She had just become ill with Ewing's sarcoma cancer and was admitted to the hospital. Her teammates wished she came true. A year later she beat the fatal disease.

Now she has to beat it again. Kara has recently been diagnosed with acute myelogenous leukemia.

This past Sunday, I was one of the 2,801 people who went to Wilmington High School on Mother's Day to donate my own blood. I, along with everyone else, am hoping that a match is found for Kara Irving. Kara needs a bone marrow transplant to survive, never mind play another soccer game.

I figured the high school would be crowded. But never did I think it would be as crowded with so many familiar faces, strange faces and so many people who wanted to do something to help the 18-year-old.

Sometimes in small suburban towns such as Wilmington, there are people who dislike other people, politicians who don't like other politicians and people who don't give a damn about other people in their town. Say what you like, but one thing for certain is this town rallies together whenever someone needs a helping hand. That's what small town life is all about.

Among the people I ran into at the high school was John Engdahl, who twice beat Leukemia and volunteered his Sunday morning to give a hand. After donating my blood, I ran into the Bamberg Family. It was just a few years ago when the town rallied together to raise money for their son Joe who was paralyzed in an accident.

People like Engdahl and the Bambergs weren't just there to give back to the people who helped them with their own problems. They were there because they are like the many other genuine people here in town, who can, when called upon, put their differences aside and try like heck to save a life, or to make someone's life better.

When I was waiting in line to donate my blood, the disc jockey presented a six-year-old girl here in town who read about Kara's sickness and wanted to donate her blood. When the little girl's mother told her daughter that she was too young to donate, the young girl decided instead of celebrating her upcoming birthday with presents, she wanted money instead which she was giving to help Kara.

Nice people live in towns like Wilmington. People who unfortunately become sick also come from towns like Wilmington. And wonderful people such as Kara and her family, as well as the many wonderful people who donated their blood, time and efforts to help, do actually come from towns like Wilmington. Wilmington is a town with great people who will go that extra mile.

With that, all of us nice people here in town would like to say "Good Luck Kara."

It was a busy time at the Common. In addition to the Community Fund CO detectors, the Garden Club held their annual plant sale, the Kiwanis ran their Bike Safety Rodeo for 148 kids. (Maureen Lamoureux photo)

House budget would provide rate relief for MWRA users

BOSTON - Representative James R. Miceli (D-Wilmington) announced that included in the House version of the FY2001 Budget was a $48.4 million debt service assistance appropriation for Massachusetts Water Resource Authority (MWRA) ratepayers. This measure directly correlated with the major goals of the MWRA Advisory Board had expressed to the legislature. Joseph Favaloro, Executive Director of the MWRA Advisory Board stated, "At a time when the Commonwealth is facing potential 'budget busters,' it is encouraging that Caucus members have remained committed to ratepayers. Debt service funding is key to the ultimate goal of the Caucus and The Advisory Board to stabilize rates." Chairman Miceli added, "As a member of the MWRA legislative caucus, it gives me a great deal of satisfaction to work hard on behalf of the ratepayers of Tewksbury and Wilmington."

Other additional inclusions in the FY2001 Budget directly benefiting MWRA ratepayers include the House's passage of the surplus property amendment. This measure will provide the MWRA with a sufficient maintenance budget to pay for the upgrade of historical property no longer used by the authority.

The FY2001 Budget is now under review by the Senate Ways and Means Committee.

Dear Mr. Wiberg:

We represent Some Little Chickadee of Topsfield, Massachusetts. Ms. Chickadee is alleging that you lured her, under false pretenses, to perform in a theatrical setting for some four and one half hours, under the promise that she would be seen on national television on the Martha Show.

Ms. Chickadee gathered her entire clan and watched the Martha Show on Tuesday and she was not on.

Ms. Chickadee alleges that this is part of a pattern of abuse that has been ongoing for generations. You have been luring her ancestors to your hand for so long that they can no longer fend for themselves. And you have even brought friends to the refuge who would lure chickadees with strange objects in their hands, beer tabs or such.

This abuse goes way back to when some lout with a red nose and a top hat used the family name in vain, making a movie called "My Little Chickadee." My client's family never received so much as a sunflower seed in royalties.

We urge you to reform your wicked ways, or else the next time you bring a television crew to the refuge, you will be visited by the CPBT (Chickadee Precision Bombardment Team).

Sincerely yours,
Barston A. Foofbein

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Mr. Wiberg received above letter just prior to hearing from the good folks at the Martha Stewart Show, informing him that the segment to which Ms. Chickadee refers will be aired on Monday, May 22 during the 9 - 10 a.m. slot on Channel 4.

Our humblest apologies to Ms. Chickadee and her flock.

LOOK AT ALL THOSE PEOPLE! Gerry and Kara Irving were in awe as 72 bicyclists rode in to Wilmington High School Sunday followed by 2700 other people to donate blood samples to help find a match for Kara's bone marrow transplant. (Frank Amato photo)

Why were these children chosen?

Dear Editor:

We are writing regarding the current redistricting issue that has recently come to pass in the town of Wilmington. A decision has been made to redistrict a small number of children from the Woburn Street, North Intermediate district to the Shawsheen, West Intermediate district.

Did you know this effects seven third graders, seven fourth graders and a small number of first and second graders who will be sent elsewhere? Our conversations with

Ms. Conway, the principal of the Woburn Street School and school committee members Joan Duffy and Nora Zinan, and Mr. Gillis of Transportation, have not lead to any logical solutions. There has been no rhyme or reason to this decision. No one has answers to why this small pocket of children has been selected for a totally different transition than their peers.

No one is helping the children with the impending and scary change about to take place in their lives. Because discussion in the classrooms focuses on the new school that most children will be going to, the children slotted for a different school are left totally perplexed as to how they fit into this scenario. Some of the families of these children may not even know that their child is going to a different school. There have not been any letters sent home or meetings set up for the families.

We would like to find out what formula is used to determine why this small number of children was chosen? Is the same formula used every time a redistricting issue arises? Why hasn't a line been drawn in the town that is consistent and stays the same? Why are they randomly choosing houses and/or streets? How much extra work and money does this create for Mr. Gillis of transportation? Why isn't there a way for these children to be grandfathered?

Tewksbury Community Pantry appreciates all the help

Dear Editor:

A wonderful thing happened in the town of Tewksbury over the past two weekends. A community worked together to provide food for their neighbors.

On Saturday, May 6, 200 people enjoyed a spaghetti supper benefit dinner that was prepared and served by a volunteer staff of adults and young people from several churches and civic organizations throughout Tewksbury.

On May 7, Project Bread held their annual 20 mile Walk for Hunger in Boston. Despite the temperature soaring to 93 degrees that day 40,000 people participated in the walk to raise money for 350 feeding agencies in Massachusetts. I have been hearing that many people from Tewksbury were among these walkers and I would like to thank them on behalf of the Tewksbury Community Pantry who has applied for a grant to receive a small portion of the proceeds from the walk.

This past weekend the letter carriers held their eighth annual food drive. Our letter carriers in Tewksbury joined their associates across the country to pick up food that was left by residents at their mailboxes. During their delivery routes our letter carriers made several trips to the pantry to drop off the food they collected. So many bags of food were delivered that it is difficult to estimate the amount that came in. Several volunteers were on hand from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. to unload the mail trucks, sort the food and take it into the pantry. Several more volunteers worked for a total of 10 hours to put the food away, and there were more volunteers who helped with the cleanup.

When all was done the pantry shelves were filled and food was even stacked on the floor. This is enough to last through the summer. Once again the people of Tewksbury showed their concern for their neighbors.

The Pantry has always been blessed with the support of the community. The residents, civic organizations, schools, churches and businesses in our town have generously supported us with food, money and their volunteer time. Many of the businesses have lent us their support since our inception by allowing us to leave food collection boxes, money containers and Pantry signs in their stores. This helps to keep us visible and viable.

We have become accustomed to this kind of cooperation between the community and the Pantry, but we do not take it for granted. We appreciate everything that is done to help us feed people in the town.

It takes a community to feed a hungry person. On behalf of the 75 households in Tewksbury, approximately 170 men, women and children, who receive food monthly, I say: "Thank you."

Sincerely yours,
Sandra A. Geddry,
President

Lucy is still lost

Dear Editor:

Another stolen dog?

My friend, Nancy was running with her dogs Lucy and Jack. The subject of this article is Lucy, a red bloodhound, with big floppy ears, who is eight months old. All were running on Friday, April 28, 2000 in the woods behind West Campus of Boston University, located in Tyngsborough.

Lucy spotted a deer and ran off. Nancy had taken her dogs out off their leashes in order to enjoy the benefit of the wildlife and scenery. I guess some people may be thinking right now about the leash law. What we all have to consider is how would we, as human beings feel if we were constantly tied up?

To date, posters have been tacked up anywhere and everywhere possible. There have been some leads, but Lucy is still lost. At the time of her disappearance, Lucy was wearing a red collar with tags. She is a lovable animal, so lovable, a new family may just find her right at home.

However, Lucy is sadly missed and belongs back at her home with Nancy, Joe and her step-brother Jack, who is a Labrador retriever. Please help in any way, shape or form you may think is necessary. A reward is awaiting her return.

From one animal lover to another,
Michelle R. Gallagher,
Dracut

Early May heat caused power watch

READING - Although the calendar still indicates that it's spring, residents along most of the Eastern seaboard got a blast of summer heat last week. As a result of the unseasonably high temperatures, ISO New England, the independent system operator of the region's bulk electricity generation and transmission system, issued a power watch on Monday, May 8. Temperatures in the 90's combined with several power plants being off-line for annual maintenance, resulted in ISO New England asking that consumers conserve electricity.

According to Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) General Manager Len Rucker, a power watch is issued by ISO New England when conditions exist which may require steps to manage capacity. When an immediate reduction in power usage is necessary to avert an overload of the system, a power warning is issued if the power watch has failed to address the increased demand.

Should the power warning fail to manage capacity, the next step taken by ISO New England would be a five percent reduction in voltage to "stretch" out the available supply of electricity to all customers.

"Unfortunately, the high temperatures occurred in early May when several large power plants were down for scheduled maintenance," Manager Rucker said. "The tight supply created a need for ISO and the electric companies of New England to ask for consumers to help."

With the summer heat quickly approaching, and more hot days expected throughout the next few months, RMLD customers can help keep everyone cool by turning up air conditioning thermostats by a few degrees, shutting off unnecessary lights and electrical appliances, and doing activities like laundry in late evening or early morning hours.

Business customers can also help by turning off unnecessary lights and office equipment such as computers when not in use.

For information about power advisories which may be administered by ISO New England, contact the RMLD at 781-944-1340.

New law enables people to obtain necessary diabetes supplies and services

BOSTON - The American Diabetes Association is pleased to inform residents of Massachusetts that provisions signed into law recently require Commonwealth regulated health insurance and managed care policies to cover necessary diabetes supplies and services. Representing an important achievement for almost 400,000 people with diabetes in Massachusetts, the law ensures that Commonwealth regulated health policies cover insulin, oral medications, insulin pumps, blood glucose testing supplies, physician and diabetes education services, and other supplies related to day-to-day diabetes management.

"As law, The Diabetes Cost Reduction Act provides important protection and guarantees to people affected by diabetes in Massachusetts," said Paul Madden, Chairman, New England Region for the American Diabetes Association. "The law enables people to obtain necessary diabetes supplies and services as part of their basic health policy coverage. It will help save lives, and prevent serious complications of diabetes like amputations, blindness, and kidney failure." Margie Lawlor, President, Healthcare and Education, New England Region for the American Diabetes Association added, "The association is especially pleased by the bipartisan support provided to the Diabetes Cost Reduction Act, and we are happy with the backing received from BlueCross BlueShield of Massachusetts for this law. We are proud to join the national movement that has secured insurance and managed care coverage of diabetes supplies and services in 40 states including California, Texas, Tennessee, New York, Florida and now Massachusetts."

Madden added, "In addition to expressing our thanks to Governor Paul Cellucci for making these diabetes specific requirements law, we would like to recognize Senator Cheryl Jacques and Representative Louis L. Kafka. Their sponsorship and constant support of The Diabetes Cost Reduction Act makes them true champions for families in Massachusetts affected by diabetes."

"I am happy that Massachusetts can join every other state in New England and ensure that people with diabetes in Commonwealth regulated health plans have coverage of supplies and high quality diabetes care," said Senator Cheryl Jacques, Senate sponsor of the legislation. "This law will help all people by focusing on preventive care. Preventive care saves money. To a person with diabetes, preventive care can also mean the difference between walking or life in a wheelchair, the difference between seeing and blindness, or the difference between living and dying."

"As a person with diabetes whose insurance already covers the benefits included in this bill, I am fully aware of the impact this law will have on people without adequate coverage," said Representative Louis L. Kafka, House sponsor of the bill. "Enactment will improve the lives of people with diabetes, and help to save lives by preventing complications of diabetes."

The Diabetes Cost Reduction Act requires insurance and managed care policies governed by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to cover diabetes supplies and services. Prescribed equipment, supplies, medications, diabetes self-management training, and diabetes education services like medical nutrition therapy are still subject to copays and deductibles within each health policy.

While 400,000 Massachusetts residents have diabetes, only 215,000 know they have the disease. In addition, over 1.5 million Commonwealth residents are at increased risk of developing diabetes. Diabetes, a leading cause of blindness, kidney disease, heart disease and amputations, claims the lives of more than 193,000 Americans each year. It is the country's sixth leading cause of death by disease.

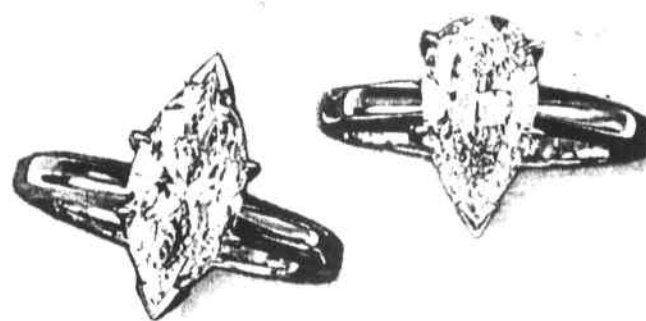

The American Diabetes Association is the nation's leading voluntary health organization supporting diabetes research, information and advocacy. The Association's mission is to prevent and cure diabetes and to improve the lives of all people affected by diabetes. Founded in 1940, the Association supports local offices in every region of the country, providing services to more than 800 communities.

WILMINGTON - THE EMPLOYEES OF XPEDX, Wilmington, wanted to give something back to the community. They decided to support the Wilmington Food Pantry with a holiday food drive. The response was so successful, that ongoing collections are made and approximately every six weeks a pickup is made at our facility.

The combined efforts of the Xpedx Activities Committee, with the employees and management has sent items such as food, paper goods and toiletries over to the food pantry.

Medford, Wilmington, and other areas. Charles from Medford Coca-Cola Company, Mike from supply from Medford and North Atlantic, Frame and Alignment company. In addition, there was a long list of private parties and other organizations that donated items without which the event could not have come to pass.

I'm thrilled with the turnout and Gerald Irving, Kara's father, Wilmington Fire Department and the Police have been great. I can't say enough about the volunteers from the community. It's just wonderful. He said that Kara is in good spirits and was overwhelmed with happiness at the enormity of the event.

Kara has gotten through the chemotherapy and is in recovery. Mr. Irving said, "She wasn't able to find a match at the time of her diagnosis of Leukemia and needed chemotherapy to hold the disease in remission until a donor could be found. We feel we're close to finding a donor." He said that Kara really wanted everyone to be aware of the donations needed for the disease, not just for her but for all those needing bone marrow transplants to live.

We were visited by a family. The child was the recipient of a non-related bone marrow transplant. Tom Convery, Wilmington resident and volunteer, said

She wanted to come visit Kara to thank the donors and volunteers for making the transplant possible and to show the successful side of a transplant." He said that the child received the transplant two years ago and is doing well.

Mr. Convery said that a six year old, Alex O'Reilly from the Boutwell School kindergarten class, wanted to donate blood. When she found that she couldn't, she was determined to do something for Kara. Her birthday was approaching and she requested that instead of birthday presents for her, donations be sent to help Kara. When Alex arrived at the fund raiser, Kara greeted her and gave her an angel doll.

Angel pins, designed by Kara, were assembled and sold at the fund raiser. Stephanie Sordillo, a Wilmington High School student recovering from an injury, worked diligently on the pins and raised $1000 in donations from their sale.

"When Kara heard of the donor drive and raffles, she requested that each donor be given a free raffle ticket. She's just that kind of caring person. We didn't have enough tickets printed at the time and the printer, Rapid Reproductions, printed and donated 2000 more right away."

"I knew Kara in high school. She was a student of mine," said Ms. Cosman, teacher at Wilmington High School. "I've known her for five years, since she was sick the last time. If it happened to someone else, she'd be here to help."

"The turnout is impressive," said Ken Gray and Chris Nee, firefighters with the Wilmington Fire Department. The said that the bike ride was well organized and slow enough so that everyone could easily participate and the escort was superb.

"I came to help out," said Jeanne Hill, sister of a Medford Firefighter. "I would want someone to do this for my kids if we were in trouble. It's so emotional. My father died of cancer 11 years ago and it still overwhelms me.

I'm glad I can help."

"I worked with Kara's father," said 51 year old Jim Morse, retired Medford Firefighter. "I have three kids of my own. Anything to help the children." Jim is also Director of the Massachusetts Disable Children's Foundation and came to help out with the bike ride and anything else that needed to be done.

"The bike ride took about an hour and fifteen minutes," said Steve Hill, Medford Firefighter. We raised over $21,000 from the bike riders alone and we weren't expecting that much." He said that a small child, Alicin Ross, lead the ride, but had a nasty fall during it. He said that she was determined get the full dollar sponsorship for Kara and finished the ride. "She's a five year old with a lot of courage," he added.

"This is a wonderful example of all the fire departments reaching out to help their communities," said Tom Ceres, Medford Firefighter. "We're there when we're needed. The firefighters go beyond their jobs and do things for their communities on their own time. They don't hesitate to contribute to a good cause."

Mr. Convery said that those firefighters who couldn't attend the event were determined to contribute. "34 more firefighters became potential bone marrow donors Monday," he said. "We called the HLA Registry Foundation and they came Monday morning for the screening tests." He said that the event was truly a community effort.

For more information to be a potential bone marrow donor, call the HLA Registry Foundation at 1-800-336-3363. If you wish to donate funds for Kara, checks can be mailed in her name to the Reading Cooperative Bank 352 Middlesex Ave., Wilmington, MA 01887.

Viera, Bill Ross, and Chip Bruce.

Searfoss, a native of Presque Isle, ME, is a graduate of Presque Isle High School and Bryant College. She has been married to Dick Searfoss for twenty nine years and has worked for Ropes and Gray since 1990. For many years she has been a member of numerous committees in Wilmington, serving on the Wilmington 250th Anniversary Committee, the American Legion Auxiliary, the Memorial Day Parade Committee, and a member of the Friends of the Wilmington Memorial Library to name just a few.

Prior to the presentation, the room was buzzing with glowing praise for this year's Good Guy. One guest commented, "She's a great person." She works on the 4th of July Committee with us and takes vacation time from her job just to help us out."

Another guest seconded that sentiment, claiming that "Joan is just the type of person that you would like to have for a friend. She's always involved and always puts forth 110% of effort."

As Searfoss entered the hall, the announcer proclaimed, "Ladies and gentlemen, please welcome this year's Good Guy," and true to Searfoss' characteristic selflessness, she quickly turned around to see who it was. Tears and hugs quickly came as she suddenly realized that she was the "good guy."

Dinner was followed by speeches in her honor from her peers. The host was James Stewart, who immediately set a "roasting" atmosphere with his quick wit and humorous commentary.

Congressman John Tierney began the evening, "I am very happy to be here. Truly, this is one of the very nicest awards in the district."

"Citizenship," he continued, "is more than just studying for a test and learning a language and it is wonderful to be here to honor somebody in our midst that really signifies what a citizen is getting involved [in the town] without any real expectation of acknowledgment."

Tierney presented Searfoss with a certificate of recognition "for service to the community and for all that [she's] done."

Also focusing on Searfoss' citizenship, Representative Jim Miceli commented, "It is an honor to know Joan Searfoss. [She] is an individual I know, who has worked hard in the community and has spent a lot of time in community organizations."

"What we have here tonight," he continued, "is a real sense of the community flavor of Old New England Towns. There aren't a lot of transients here. The people stay here; people like Joan. I would like to congratulate the committee on selecting Joan."

Miceli presented a citation from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts House of Representatives saying, "Congratulations for your involvement in the community and you are deserving of recognition from all of the citizens of Massachusetts."

Miceli was followed by Scott Garrant, a member of the Wilmington 4th of July Committee. Garrant commented, "I'd like to show our appreciation to Joan, who is a founding member. She is our most trusted person. She is the glue that holds our committee together. It is her dedication that allows us to put the best 4th of July forward."

Atty. Steve Wilcox, of Ropes & Gray, where Searfoss works as a legal secretary, offered these words, "Anyone who knows Joan Searfoss, knows that she's a truly great person. To say that she is involved, engages responsibility, is caring is a great understatement. She always finishes every job that she starts. Always gives 110%. Joan, you're the greatest!"

A bowl was presented from the Wilmington Board of Selectmen in "appreciation [of] the effort for all that [Searfoss gives] and all that [she] does for Wilmington."

Rondi Holland, who rides the train every day with Searfoss and is a member of the "Wilmington Train Gang," commented on how well Searfoss has kept the group informed of the 4th of July events for the past twenty seven years.

At this point in the evening, a moment of silence was taken in memory of former Good Guys Rocco DiPasquale, Rico Catalano, Dick Duggan, and for Catherine "Jo" Cunningham, who passed away just last week.

Also among the speakers was Searfoss' niece, Chris Corbett, who commented, "She is simply a sweetheart with a heart of gold. There are endless examples of kindness and love that she has shown me.... My aunt has always been there for me... and I'm not the only one she is willing to take care of."

Corbett continued, "It can't be said enough, Aunt Joan, you truly have a heart of gold. I thank you and I love you."

Joe DeRosa, President of the Wilmington Community Fund, said, "When faced with tough decisions I turn to Joan for her knowledge and the way she handles things. Joan is always there. Joan is always the first to step forward and offer services. [It is] not so much the volunteer work she does, but the way she does it, it makes everyone feel like part of her family and that's a remarkable quality."

Town Clerk, Kay Scanlon, offered, "I'm glad to be here to represent another portion of Joan's life. She's been working for the town meetings and elections for many years. You only do this because you care about your community and Joan certainly does." At this point all of Searfoss' coworkers on the polls offered her individual flowers.

Scanlon further asserted, "We call her the most important thing we can call her: our friend."

Director of the Wilmington Memorial Library, Tina Stewart, commended Searfoss for assistance in forming the bylaws of the Friends of the Wilmington Memorial Library, her donations of books to the library, and cookies to functions. Searfoss was presented with an American Library poster of Fabio and a $100 certificate which will be used to buy books for the library and be donated in her name.

Senator Bruce Tarr offered Searfoss a citation from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, signed by Senate President Thomas Birmingham. He commented, "For a community to be strong, there needs to be people who will step up. Joan is one of our best examples of someone who really, truly believes in community. She has made the community a better and stronger place."

Last, but certainly not least, last year's Good Guy, D.A.R.E. officer, and 11 year member of the Wilmington Police Force, Chip Bruce welcomed Searfoss to the group, "You are always there, [Joan]. You are an asset to the community and it is my privilege to welcome you into this wonderful group of people!"

Searfoss responded to the evening saying, "I don't know what to say. I was totally surprised. I've always come to a lot of the Good Guy Awards. I feel very honored to be here and to be chosen after the great man who was chosen last year and the [recipients] from the years before. I feel very honored to see so many friends and family. Thank you."

Unsurprisingly, James Stewart had the last words, "Wilmington wouldn't be Wilmington without Joan Searfoss!"

Why is the child acting out?

We can easily overlook the complete picture when it comes to the acting out child. Teachers and parents too often see only the arrogance and defiance in a child's behavior. They are swept up by emotional blindness elicited by their own aggravation and anger. If this becomes perpetuated, it can destroy any possible harmony between adult and child. When this happens, meaningful questions and answers are brushed aside.

We must ask, why is the child acting out? What is eliciting these negative behaviors? Can he possibly be enjoying all the reprimands and punishments? Does he realize he's losing the respect of teachers and parents as well as some peers? These children need help. When this situation occurs, we must look deeper to find the truth. However, these questions may never be answered if you are dealing with your own anger and frustration. All you may see is the injustice of inexcusable acts toward you. If we understand these reasons, we can then begin to forgive and help.

There is usually a correlation between a child's feelings of inadequacy or academic weakness with the behavior of the acting out child. Teachers should be trained to look beyond the defiance and non-conformity of the acting out child. This is not to say you should allow inappropriate behavior. If anything, this should be dealt with immediately with an appropriate deterrent. However, we must not stop there. We must keep asking the question why and seek out the answer. These children can't afford to wait too long. Reason and cause may never be found because an easy solution is more feasible. Just medicate the child.

However, was it the proper solution? Was it the proper medication? Was it the proper therapy? It certainly is the least expensive compared to psychotherapy. It also takes little time and effort to administer a pill. These children need every consideration to give adequate time and effort to find the proper help. Too often schools and doctors have the tendency to approve this quick fix. This, of course, is not true of all professionals. Many realize the possible misdiagnosis and harm drugs may cause.

The Food and Drug Administration has not approved most of the psychiatric drugs for children. Almost nothing is known about how antidepressant and other psychoactive drugs effect a child's brain. Because of this fact alone other therapeutic possibilities must be investigated first. School personnel must become more aware of seemingly insignificant incidents. These incidents could be the tip of an iceberg. Any word or action implying they may be inadequate, can effect children. For some, tolerance can be very low when it comes to embarrassment, harassment, or any demeaning remarks. This pain and frustration may seem to be no reasonable excuse for acting out, but it is. The feelings must be noticed, accepted, and dealt with. Otherwise we may never deal with the acting out child's true reality. We will only continue to misplace time, money, and therapy.

A good example was a 12 year old special needs student who was having daily outburst, in class. He would swear, defy, and destroy papers and items. No apparent reason could be found for these extreme disruptions. I was asked to observe this child. This young man was sitting next to another child at a table. They were both assigned the task of answering 10 questions. The first 20 minutes was uneventful until this troubled child began to squirm. He then abruptly stood up, broke his pencil and trashed the table of all its contents. Most observers might come to the conclusion this child is mentally or socially unbalanced. This is when we must seek further, to be sure there are no other answers. Otherwise these limited observations will be documented, on which many doctors will base their diagnosis, too often ending in a prescribed drug.

In this case, like so many others, there was a reason which provoked this unreasonable outburst. The average child would not respond in this manner, because he doesn't have the pain and frustration of the angry, unaccomplished child. This child had very poor self esteem that made failure devastating. His pride and goals were high, while his academic abilities were low. His efforts always fell short of accomplishment. He desperately wanted to go beyond special need assistants.

However, this same child responded differently while playing sports and in the home setting. Different, because he excelled in sports and felt loved and accepted at home. These same feelings of importance need to be felt in the classroom. We should expose and utilize a child's strengths whenever possible.

It could be sports, checkers, chess, or hobbies that can give the dignity the child so desperately needs. Give him the opportunity to show and teach what he knows to his classmates. Have a curriculum that fulfills the failing child. Put aside the same academics that are perpetuating failure. You can always go back to the required teachings, after reinstating the child's self worth. He will then be ready to absorb and perform. These crucial elements of success and acceptance can extinguish the flame and soothe the wounds releasing the conforming child. Doctors and school personnel must take all this into account when diagnosing or evaluating the child. Once the truth is known, the proper therapeutic direction can take place and the healing process can begin.

Way) can be obtained through Post Office Box 79, Wilmington, Ma. 01887; $14.95 plus tax; 75 cents.

AT ONE WITH GOD

We can derive great comfort from the thought that we are at one with God. This divine relationship frees us from the limitations imposed by our earthly existence and enables us to explore the infinite. As John F. Searach has written, "Once my imagination was taken down to the bed of the sea and saw those green hills and dunes that seemed to be clothed with moss, seaweed and stones. And I understood that at a point I firmly believe that God is always with man, then even if he is thrown into the depths of the sea, he will always be preserved in body and soul and will enjoy greater solace and comfort than all this world can offer."

Whatever religious or social customs are practiced, some things tend to be universal: we treat our deceased with all the dignity and decorum they commanded and deserved in life. At FARMER & DEE FUNERAL HOME, 16 Lee Street, we are an integral part of this community because people in the midst of a crisis want the reassurance of dealing with people they know and who have integrity they can trust. John T. Burke

Tax Accountant: 61

TEWKSBURY - John T. Burke, 61, died unexpectedly Wednesday evening, May 10, at Saints Memorial Medical Center in Lowell. He was the husband of Margaret A. (Clark) Burke, with whom he had celebrated a 37th wedding anniversary this past April 20th.

He was born in North Cambridge, March 27, 1939, the son of the late Joseph and Mary (Moran) Burke. He was raised in Somerville and moved to North Tewksbury in 1963.

During the Vietnam War, he served in the National Guard.

He had worked as an accountant for the Federated Distillers in Cambridge, but had operated his own tax preparation service in North Tewksbury for more than 10 years.

He was a communicant of St. Robert Bellarmine Church in West Andover, and active in the Tewksbury Wilmington Elks Lodge, #2070. He was an alumnus of Bentley College in Waltham.

Besides his wife, he is survived by three sons and a daughter-in-law, John W. Burke of Tewksbury, Steven J. and his wife Vivian (Vargas) Burke of Lawrence, Dennis R. Burke of Newburyport, four daughters and a son-in-law, Catherine A. Burke of Fla., Sharon and her husband Eric Gotham of Litchfield, NH, Janice C. Burke of Dracut and Cynthia

M. Chehab of Tewksbury, two brothers and three sisters-in-law, Frank and Mary Burke of Arlington, Richard and Karen Burke of Quincy and Judi Burke of Waltham, four grandchildren, Crystal and Derek Gotham, Megan and Andrew Burke, and several nieces and nephews.

His funeral was held Monday in St. Robert Bellarmine Church in West Andover followed by burial in St. Mary's Cemetery. Memorials to the American Diabetes Assn., 249 Canal St. Manchester, NH 03101 will be appreciated. Arrangements were through the Tewksbury Funeral Home.

Michael J. Farese

Tewksbury School Dept; 83

TEWKSBURY - Michael J. "Mike" Farese, 83, died unexpectedly, Saturday evening, May 13th, at Saint's Memorial Medical Center in Lowell after suffering an apparent heart attack at his home earlier in the afternoon. He was the husband of June C. (Harris) Farese, with whom he had celebrated a 48th wedding anniversary this past July 12th.

He was born in Arlington, March 21, 1917, the son of the late Frank and Mary (Amatucci) Farese. He was raised in Arlington, but had resided in Tewksbury for the past 50 years.

In his earlier years, he was employed by the Cambridge Felt Company, and later, during the early 1960's owned "Mikes Sub Base", a restaurant located at the corner of Main and Shawsheen streets in Tewksbury. He finished his work career when he retired from the Tewksbury School Department, where he was the head custodian at the Lowella Dewing Elementary School in North Tewksbury.

He was a Charter Member of the Tewksbury-Wilmington Elks Lodge, #2070, and was a communicant of St. William's Church. He enjoyed gardening of flowers and plants throughout his life.

Besides his wife, he is survived by seven children, John M. and his wife Deborah (Phelps) Farese of Pembroke, NH, June E. Farese of Tewksbury, Richard F. Farese and his dear friend Karen Annes of Lowell, Mary Kerble of Arlington, Marilyn Guinane of Manchester-by-the-sea, Michael Farese of Waban, and Cheryl Hollingsworth, M.D. of New Mexico, a sister, Evelyn Carlino of Arlington, two brothers, Frank Farese and Ernest Farese both of Arlington, 10 grandchildren, 1 great granddaughter, and several nieces and nephews.

He was also brother of the late Joseph Farese and Mary Farese.

His Funeral Mass was held Wednesday in St. William's Church, followed by interment in Tewksbury Cemetery. Arrangements were through the Tewksbury Funeral Home.

Two hikes will celebrate National Trails Day and Biodiversity Day

Saturday, June 10, two hikes will take place in North Wilmington and Andover in celebration of National Trails Day and Biodiversity Day.

The event is being sponsored by the Wilmington Conservation Commission, the Wilmington Open Space and Recreation Committee, the Wilmington Shawsheen River Stream Team, Camp 40 Acres, the Andover Trails Committee and the Bay Circuit Alliance.

Participants are asked to meet at the Camp 40 Acres pavilion at 9 a.m. on June 10. The pavilion is located off Andover Street at the Andover town line. Leaders will take one group on a short trek, approximately 90 minutes round trip, on marked trails through Camp 40 Acres, the Town Forest, up to the water standpipe and back. A second group will take a longer hike of about three hours round trip on marked trails through Camp 40 Acres and the Town Forest in addition to hiking in adjoining areas within the Town of Andover.

The event will be held rain or shine. Participants should take their own food and non-alcoholic beverages. Limited restroom facilities are located at Camp 40 Acres. Children under the age of 14 should be accompanied by an adult. Due to limited parking, participants are encouraged to carpool. Parking will be available in a designated area of Camp 40 Acres. For more information contact John Keeley, Assistant Director of Planning and Conservation at 978-694-2024.

THANK YOU NOVENA TO ST. JUDE

O Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return, I promise to make your name known, and cause you to be invoked. Say three Our Fathers, three Hail Marys and Glorias. Publication must be promised. St. Jude pray for us and all who invoke your aid. Amen. This Novena has never been known to fail. I have had my request granted. Publication promised.

Treble Chorus to present two shows

NORTHANDOVER - In celebration of its 25th anniversary this year, The Treble Chorus of New England at Merrimack College will present Boston's National Choir Festival, May 26-29 with internationally renowned Sir David Willcocks conducting. Treble Chorus, under the direction of founder and artistic director Marie Stultz, and the Mississippi Girlchoir (Ms. Lillian Lee, director), will present two concerts.

On May 28 the choristers will perform at 4 p.m. at the elegant new Rogers Center for the Arts on the campus of Merrimack College in Andover. A second performance will be held at noon at Old South Church, Copley Square, Boston. Willcocks will be conducting at both concerts with Ms. Stultz and Ms. Lee assisting. Barbara Burns, former associate conductor of the Boston Cecilia, and director of music at St. Thomas' Church in Whitmarsh, PA, will be organist for the concerts. Valerie J. Becker, former pianist at Tanglewood and teacher at the Winsor School, will accompany on piano.

Tickets for the concerts are $10 and advance purchase is advised. To reserve a ticket or for more information, call the Treble Chorus office at 978-837-5461. Both concert sites are handicapped accessible.

The Treble Chorus of New England at Merrimack College is funded in part by generous grants from The Massachusetts Cultural Council, The North Andover Cultural Council, The Lawrence Cultural Council, and the Betty McCarthy Memorial Trust Fund.

Our Friend "JO"

She had a warm and friendly personality, sparkle in her eyes, a special laugh. You were always comfortable around her, she would listen to you, she cared about people. She loved life, her family and Harry. She left her footprints on our hearts, she will never be forgotten.

On May 8, 2000, "JO" Catherine Cunningham passed away. Our world was a better place because of you "JO". You did matter! You were loved by many.

Good Bye,
Your Friends

U-Plan enrollment extended to June 15

BOSTON - Tewksbury's State Senator Sue Tucker and Representative Jim Miceli have announced the start of the 2000 enrollment period for the U-Plan, the Commonwealth's nationally recognized prepaid tuition program that allows families to lock in tomorrow's tuition at today's rates at 82 colleges and universities in Massachusetts. This year's enrollment period has been extended to coincide with federal and state income tax filing deadlines, and will run through June 15.

The Massachusetts Educational Financing Authority (MEFA) administers the U-Plan. MEFA's Executive Director Mr. Thomas M. Graf said, "MEFA is committed to finding innovative ways to help families face the incredible challenges of saving enough money for higher education in a society where learning is a key to advancement.

Senator Tucker and Representative Miceli have urged anyone interested in more information regarding the U-Plan to contact them at 800-449-6332, 617-722-2582 or log onto MEFA's website at www.mefa.org.

Mike Perkins graduated Nuclear Power School

TEWKSBURY - Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Michael J. Perkins, son of Mary L. Perkins of Franklin Street, Tewksbury, recently graduated from the Navy's Basic Nuclear Power School at Naval Nuclear Power Training Command, Goose Creek, S.C.

During the six month course, Perkins received fundamental training in several technical fields related to the nuclear power program. Perkins studied basic mathematics and physics for three months in preparation for hands on training later in the course. In the latter half of the course, Perkins spent hours becoming familiar with nuclear reactor theory and operations.

With his newly acquired knowledge, Perkins is prepared to operate a reactor on a nuclear powered submarine or aircraft carrier, ensuring the availability of propulsion and power.

He joined the navy in November 1998.

Wild Wild West Show coming to Wilmington Library

WILMINGTON - Children age four and their families are invited to take an adventure filled excursion to the Wild West and pay tribute to the greatest cowboy who ever lived, Pecos Bill in Steve Rudolph's Wild West Magic Show. This exciting show, which combines great magic with lots of laughs, surprises and audience participation, will be held Wednesday, May 31 at 7 p.m.

Steve Rudolph is a former public school teacher who really knows how to relate to children. He has since become one of the most popular magicians currently performing in schools and libraries throughout New England.

Tickets are required for this program which is funded by the Massachusetts Department of Education through the "Community Partnerships for Children" grant. Reserve your tickets by calling the Children's Room at 658-2967 beginning Thursday, May 18.

Friends Book Sale

If you are in the middle of spring cleaning, now is the time to gather those books you have read and consider donating them to a good cause. The Friends are interested in book donations for their annual book sale during the 4th of July celebration. Books should be clean and in good condition. Textbooks and old magazines are not accepted. Since the Friends will be at the library Saturday, May 27, it would be helpful to take your books to the library before then. Please call the library at 658-2967 prior to dropping off books.

Mass Bedrock

Whether you are looking for company information, demographic data, economic indicators, or state legislation relevant to doing business in Massachusetts, you can find it all at MassBedrock.org. The Massachusetts Business and Economic Development Reference Online Center is a joint project of the Massachusetts Board of Library Commissioners and the University of Massachusetts Amherst Libraries.

The web site is designed to be both a searchable database of business and economic development resources and a referral service to help businesses to find people and places for further assistance. The catalog consists of resources that have been reviewed annotated and assigned subject headings by librarians. The index is a large collection of business related web pages that have been compiled by a computer generated "crawler." Be sure to bookmark this site or stop by the library to check it out on one of the internet workstations. If you have any questions about MassBedrock or any business information questions, please contact the reference desk at 658-2967.

"Harriet Beecher Stowe" to visit Tewksbury Library

TEWKSBURY - The Tewksbury Public Library has planned two informative and entertaining "historical character" programs performed by Jan Turnquist.

The first presentation, "Harriet Beecher Stowe," will be held Thursday, May 18, 7:30 p.m. in the library meeting room. The second program, "Phebe Emerson," will be held Thursday, May 25 at 7:30 in the library meeting room.

Jan Turnquist is a historian, educator, and actress. She will portray Harriet Beecher Stowe and Phebe Emerson in character. She will dress, speak, behave, and answer questions consistently in character. Her focus allows the audience to feel transported back in time, and gives them the opportunity to hear "first hand" of a historic life and time.

Experience the education, entertainment, and excitement not found in other forms of teaching or drama.

Shriners to hold convention in Boston in July

BOSTON - For the 20,000 Shriners and Ladies, traveling from the U.S.A. and Canada to the historic state of Massachusetts, it is the fabled magic of the Arabian Nights that is unfolding in Boston. The members of the Shrine of North America are holding their international meeting here July 1-6. They expect to break all attendance records for the city that is rolling out the welcome mats to its visitors.

Shriners will be visiting more places, eating in more restaurants and seeing more points of interest than ever before in any kind of a convention. Ladies are ready to shop Boston's famous retail stores because of their reputations of having the bargains of the ages they can take home.

Actually, the Shriners Convention is more than tourists traveling to historic sites, and shopping. Most are here to show the city of Boston what the Shrine is all about. There are hilarious overtones of characters and zany mobile vehicles. Color and pageantry from eastern themed Mediterranean countries are unique to the Shriners. Wacky clowns and comic cars are as entertaining as Disney World street activities.

The Shriners are different. Their theme centers around having good times at their own expense which is one way they publicize their 22 renowned hospitals for children. Massachusetts has two: the Boston Unit for burn injuries and the Springfield Unit for orthopedic care. All hospitalization and operations received at Shriners are free.

What began as a civic contribution to small, homespun celebrations in the 1920's has grown into a parade pageant surpassing better known ones like the Tournament of Roses in Pasadena, California and Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York.

But the growth of the parade and its dozens of attendant parties in Quincy Market and Copley Square, horse patrol competition at Suffolk Downs, squealing bagpipes and thundering drums heard in unison at Castle Island, and Oriental Bands serenading tourists in hotel lobbies, is more than a testament to rising family values. It is a reflection how many Americans have broken away from the bonds of TV and computer isolation to group activities. Shriners embrace music, friendship, activities, and helping the less fortunate. The parade is a way they are recalling the home they left behind in decades past to keep alive America's time tested values of the family fold.

Extended Day Program

New face, new sites

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN
WILMINGTON A new Extended Day Coordinator has signed on the dotted line with the Wilmington Public School System.

It was announced at the May 10 School Committee meeting that Jeanne Noonan will soon arrive in Wilmington as its new Extended Day Coordinator. Only in terms of location will this position be new territory for Noonan; currently, she is the Extended Day Coordinator for a private program at the Needham Children Center in Needham.

Said Superintendent of Schools Geraldine O'Donnell, "I'm extremely enthusiastic about the opportunities that she (Noonan) has here in Wilmington."

Noonan's first day on the job will be on Saturday, July 1.

Extended Day Programs provide before-and-after-school care for children in Kindergarten and grades one through five.

Currently, the Wilmington School System has two Extended Day Programs, both of which are at the early childhood centers of the Boutwell School and the Wildwood School. It is the hope of O'Donnell and the School Committee to have the Extended Day Program expanded to five more schools throughout the community: the new Wilmington Middle School; the North and West Intermediate Schools; the Shawheen Elementary School; and the Woburn Street School.

Says Brad Jackson, the schools system's Director of Administration and Finance, "We are looking to have Extended Day decentralized, so kids can have the program at their school, rather than have to travel to another one. It'll make the program more accessible."

Another benefit to extending the Extended Day Program, says Jackson, would be a reduction in transportation expenses, for children would no longer have to be driven from one school to the next.

The Extended Day Program that is being targeted for the new Middle School will be designed to alleviate recently voiced concerns from parents and teachers throughout the community. The bell that all students love to hear

-- the one that signals the end of classes for the day -- will sound off at the Middle School at an earlier time in the afternoon than at the other schools. What to do with all of that extra time?

"We hope to create an educational after-school program at the new school that will be academic, athletic, and recreational," says Jackson. "We're going to try to make it a meaningful place to be for students whose parents would like to see supervised throughout the afternoon."

At the School Committee meeting, O'Donnell noted that surveys will soon be taken to determine how much of a need for an Extended Day Program exists at each of the seven proposed locations.

Planning Board

Street projects, Walgreen's lights discussed

By CHARLOTTE COOPER
TEWKSBURY The meeting was short, but not without some spark. Most items were continued without discussion due to the reduced attendance of Planning Board members.

Hillman and Washington Street Projects were continued. "We postponed the [decision] on the extension of Washington Street so that Hancock (the town's consulting firm) could get back to us in time," Richard Cuoco said. He indicated that they were seeking approval of the plans for Hillman Street this evening.

The entire project, which is actually two separate plans, encompasses the addition of a building on Hillman Street and construction of a 5 bay garage to the office home on Washington Street. Mr. Cuoco indicated that they should have the proper correspondences and verifications by June for the Washington Street project.

"We'd suggest respectfully if the Board could approve the [Hillman Street] plans subject to Sean's verification and Hancock's reply," Mr. Cuoco said. He said that there is a letter dated in May the Board should have and that they discussed all issues with Sean. He also said that there is only one outstanding issue with Hancock, the Town's consulting firm, and that they are working on it.

Cheryl Bush, Planning Board member said that they didn't have enough information in the packets to render a decision. The Board chose to continue the hearing until the next meeting June 12.

Walgreen's Site Lighting. "Subsequent to the last meeting we met with Mr. Colantuoni and Sean Sullivan. We agreed to do what the Building Commissioner told us to do," said Richard O'Neill, special town employee and attorney for the applicant. He said that they put shielding on the required lights and raised the hanging lights under the driveway car port. He said that they did what was in the letter of May 9th and the Building Commission said it complied with the Town's Zoning Bylaws.

Michael Wink, a close neighbor of he Walgreen's site indicated that the lighting still violated the ByLaws. "Some of the lights are shielded and some are not. The lighting casts a 15' shadow across my livingroom. No one is addressing the entire problem."

Mr. O'Neill reiterated that the applicant did what he was instructed to do. David Plunkett said that he would like to visit the property and view the lighting situation himself. The Board agreed and conditioned approval upon Mr. Plunkett's review of the lighting. Mr. Plunkett will visit the site and submit his decision before Monday, May 22nd.

Roger's Street Subdivision. The cluster division was continued as well due to lack of information.

"We expected Sean to be her so that we could go forward," said Mr. Cuoco. He indicated that all 24 items on Hancock's list were agreed to and that he discussed this with Sean.

"We met with [the Commissioner] and Sean and had a lengthy visit. All issues were satisfied except two items," Mr. Cuoco said. He said that the plans will be forthcoming and he will hand deliver them. The Board decided to have an additional meeting on May 23 to accommodate the unfinished items. If there isn't a proper quorum, the Board will cancel the meeting and continue it to June 12th.

IRA Motors was discussed then continued. "We'd request to continue the matter to the next regularly scheduled meeting. Just to update the Board, it is my understanding that we've received a letter from Hancock, and the Building Commissioner, the Deputy Chief has signed off on the project and we have a letter from the Board of Health," said Mr. O'Neill.

Several outstanding issues regarding traffic around and on the property will be addressed prior to the next meeting. The Board agreed to continue the meeting to June 12th.

WILMINGTON HIGH JUNIOR KATELYN SUGHRUE tossed a four-hit shutout against the defending state champs of North Reading on Monday night. (Photo by Joe Hakey).

Sweet revenge on the Hornets

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

The last time they faced the defending Division 3 State Champions from neighboring town of North Reading, the Wilmington High Wildcat softball team mustered just one hit, struck out a lot and made one error which was the difference of a 1-0 loss.

Since then the tides have turned. Back on their home turf of Aprile Field, the 'Cats defeated North Reading 2-0 in a fantastic softball game in front of a terrific crowd under the lights on Monday.

Once again junior pitcher Katelyn Sughrue pitched a gem. "She's a peanut who can whip the ball," says coach Paul Lyman, was the hard luck losing pitcher last time when she gave up just one hit. This time around, Sughrue came inches away from tossing a no-hitter as four lousy infield hits found their way. However, come crunch time it was Sughrue who came through, and it was the bats of the 'Cats which came through as well.

"The kids did great," said Lyman, whose team now stands at 9-4 and one win away from qualifying for the state tournament for the seventh time in the last eight years. "Last time we played them we struck out a lot. We've been working very hard on improving our hitting.

"Tonight we spent an hour before the game at the [batting] cage, we cranked [the speed] up and told the girls to swing hard, put the ball in play and see what happens. That's what happened tonight; the girls made contact. Last time we didn't and tonight Lauren [McCarthy] came through with the big two-out hit."

Sughrue was magnificent all game. She retired the side in order in the first inning on four pitches, and should have done the same in the second but the lead off hitter LisaMarie Marciano reached first when an infield pop up was dropped.

Instead of North Reading taking advantage of a Wilmington error to win, it was the Lady 'Cats taking advantage of some Hornet miscues. In the bottom of the second in a scoreless game, Colleen Cahill singled to right with one out. After a pop up, Robin Mainini drilled a line drive to left field for a single, moving Cahill to second. Michele Lemos followed, and she knew what she had to do.

"We practiced hitting at the cage and they had the speed up [Ridings' speed] and I was having trouble getting the bat through the zone fast enough [so that's why I was slapping]," said Lemos. "I just wanted to put the ball in play, and luckily I did with two strikes."

Lemos tried the slap hit three times, and the third time proved to be a charm as she sent a slow roller to the left side, and their shortstop was off balanced and tossed the ball to third trying to force Cahill. The ball was dropped as Cahill slid in loading the bases for Lauren McCarthy, the team's lead-off hitter.

"Mr. Lyman was yelling at me saying 'don't be afraid of the ball' and I was so [expletive], so I wanted to hit the living [expletive] out of the ball," said McCarthy. "I choked up and swung as quick and as hard as I could."

McCarthy shortened up her swing and took an outside pitch to right field for a two-run flare, which was the difference in the game.

Sughrue now with runs in her pocket, struck out the first two batters she faced in the top of the third, before her no-hitter was broken up with an infield single that went off her own outstretched glove, but she got out of the inning with a line out to second baseman Katie Holloway.

Sughrue ran into a little trouble in the fourth but Wilmington caught a break to get out of the jam. With one out, Marciano reached on an infield single which took a bad hop on third baseman Kristi Langone. The next batter grounded out moving Marciano to second. Ridings followed and she reached on base as Sughrue missed a grounder back to her, but Marciano was called out for runner's interference when shortstop Kara Langone came in to play the miscue ending the inning.

Kristi Langone singled in the home half of the inning and that was it for the 'Cats with the baseknocks - five on the night.

Sughrue would retire the side in order in the fifth, give up a harmless two-out infield single in the sixth, before the adventurous seventh inning. North Reading started a rally with back-to-back singles. After failing to get the bunt down twice, next batter Jen Gionettes struck out as she chased a high fastball from Sughrue. Then came the catch. North Reading's next batter blooped a tough ball behind first baseman Colleen Cahill into very short right field, just inside the foul line. Lemos came running over, flopped on her belly and made a sensational diving grab for the second out. As the crowd roared, she flipped the ball up to Cahill from her knees to double off the runner from first to end the game.

"I didn't know why everyone was cheering," said Lyman. "I couldn't tell where I was if she caught the ball. Then I saw her on her knees and I was looking around to see where I wanted her to throw it since all of the runners were everywhere. When I saw her flip it to Colleen I was thinking she was just trying to get rid of it because she couldn't get up fast enough. And when the crowd started cheering when Colleen had the ball, I finally figured out what happened."

"That was a great individual effort and a great catch. If she didn't get that we might still be playing."

This was a huge win for the team which seems to be peaking at the right time.

"Oh my God [what a huge win]," said McCarthy. "It's a huge league win. We were ready for this; we knew we were going to win. We won the two games down at the Cape, and they lost [On Sunday] to Coyle-Cassidy. So we knew we were up and they were down."

Said Lemos, "We're on a roll now," she said of the five game winning streak. "This is a huge win for us and hopefully we'll keep it going."

Junior pitcher Katelyn Sughrue

"A peanut who can whip the ball"

By MICHAEL LIUZZA
Sports Correspondent

If you watch Wilmington High junior Katelyn Sughrue throw a softball you would simply be amazed. Standing at barely 5-2 and not even 100 pounds, it's a wonder she can even get a heater past bonafide high school softball players.

She did that and then some on Monday night, as she tossed a complete game, 2-0, victory over the defending Division 3 state champions from North Reading.

As good Sughrue was on Monday, and as good as she has been all season long - improving dramatically from last year - she had a little secret that no one knew come game time Monday evening at Aprile Field.

"Katelyn is coming off a shoulder injury in which she strained a tendon," said head Wildcat coach Paul Lyman. "She hadn't pitched in a week but the rest was obviously good for her. Tonight she put in a terrific performance."

Sughrue outdueled Michelle Ridings, the same pitcher who was the main and sole reason for the Hornets state championship of a year ago, and the same pitcher who three weeks ago beat Sughrue and Wilmington, 1-0, despite the Wildcat hurler giving up just one hit. Sughrue didn't give up an earned run the loss, and she upped her mark to 14 innings without giving up an earned run against the defending state champs - and she only gave up five combined hits and two walks in those two games.

"This is a huge win for us," said Sughrue. "We worked hard preparing for them, as they are a real good team. But we were able to put our bats on the ball and come away with the win."

True, the Wildcats did indeed hit Hornet hurler Michelle Ridings very well. But what Sughrue failed to mention was how well she pitched. The junior fireballer tossed a complete-game shutout, giving up just four hits while striking out seven. Sughrue was in complete control the entire game and also benefited by some spectacular defensive plays behind her.

What was amazing was just how much control Sughrue had over her pitches. When she wasn't slowing the ball by the Hornet hitters, she was hitting spots perfectly. She also worked in a nice off-speed pitch that she hasn't always had.

"Katelyn has improved a lot from last year," continued Lyman. "She really worked hard in the off-season. She developed an off-speed drop pitch and really worked on her control, which has been great this year."

"She might be a peanut, but she can whip the ball."

Said catcher Jackie Rubino of her battery mate's performance, "Katelyn was great tonight. Everything was perfect tonight. She was really right on target."

"The entire team was real psyched up for this game," said Sughrue. Last time we played North Reading, they beat us 1-0.

Ridings is an excellent pitcher. But we cranked up the pitching machine this past week at practice, and it obviously paid off."

For the most part, Sughrue cruised a long the entire game. She struck out one in the first, two in the second, and gave up just one hit in the third and fourth. After one more hit in the sixth, she struck out another Hornet batter with a blazing fastball. She also forced the North Reading hitters to hit seven easily caught pop-ups, most of which were in the infield.

Then came the seventh inning. With the Wildcats holding on to a 2-0 lead, the Hornets looked like they were going to sting. After two singles to start the inning, it appeared that North Reading was getting a rally going. But Sughrue - who if you want her is so mentally tough - bore down and struck out the next batter on a high fastball after the first two bunt attempts failed. Wilmington's Michele Lemos made a spectacular catch ending the game and preserving the shutout for Sughrue, after which she fired the ball to first doubling-off the runner.

"I was a little nervous in the seventh, as things got a little close," said Sughrue. "But Michelle made such a great play, it was just a fabulous way to end the game."

Sughrue and the Wildcats are currently riding a five-game win streak, and now have a record of 9-4. Although the season is far from over and nothing has been determined yet, one thing remains certain. The junior pitcher will be back for another year. And that's a scary thought.

'Cats sweep down on the Cape

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It's been a very busy week for the Wildcats. Several members of the team had their junior prom on Friday night, and at 6 am on Saturday, the entire team took their two-hour trip to Cape Cod to participate in the 13th annual Cape Cod Friendship Tournament in Nauset.

The results? All was good as the 'Cats handily defeated both Nauset, 11-4, and Agawam, 6-2, behind two outstanding pitching performances from senior Robin Mainini.

"Katelyn had a slight injury in her shoulder and we told Robin that she was pitching both games no matter what," said Coach Lyman. "And she did a fantastic job getting two wins."

Against the host team Nauset, Mainini improved her record to 3-1, as she gave up just two earned runs on six hits, walking two and striking out five. At the plate, Kara Langone and Colleen Cahill combined for three hits and 5 RBI. Danielle Cleary played very well at second base with six assists and two putouts.

Against Agawam, Mainini improved to 4-1 on the season, as she gave up two runs on five hits and two walks, while she struck out nine against a pretty good club. Lauren McCarthy, Kara Langone and Katie Holloway brought the big bats helping out their teammate get the victory. McCarthy went 3-for-5 with two RBI, Langone went 3-for-4, knocking in one, and Holloway had two sacrifice bunts and knocked in a run.

McCarthy and Kristi Langone also brought some leather with them, as both of them made several nice plays.

White Sox 8, Tigers 0

The Sox, behind the pitching of Mike MacIntyre, Nick Manent, and Keith "the closer" Brandano combined to shut down the Tigers on four hits in Wilmington Little League action.

The White Sox offense was led by Pat Ryan (three doubles), Peter Rastellini (two hits), Manent (two hits), Derek Fitzpatrick and "Bubba" McIsaac.

Leading the Tigers offense was Jeremy Shuh, Ryan Tucker, Derek Sheehy and Garrett.

White Sox 7, A's 6

The White Sox took a 6-0 lead into the fourth inning and held off a hard charging A's team for the victory. The Sox received another strong outing from Mike MacIntyre (three innings, zero runs), but needed a good effort from Kevin "the closer" Brandano to stop the A's attack.

The Sox offense came from Pat Ryan, Peter Rastellini, Mike Fogarty, Dan Palmer and Nick Manent. "Bubba" McIsaac and J.T. Tranfaglia played a strong defensive game at second base.

Matt Hogg was overpowering in relief for the A's. Brian Cairra led all hitters with two, while Aldo Cairra, Scott Potchner and Fahey chipped in with one apiece.

High School sports notebook

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It's been a very good three-sport school year for the Redmen. In the fall, the field hockey team went to the North sectional semi-final game, football team had a magnificent season turning around its 2-8 record from a season ago with basically the same roster, and the girls' cross country team went undefeated. In the winter, the boys' basketball team turned around from a 2-18 record to make it to the state tournament, while the girls' track team went undefeated and the boys' had a very good season.

Now comes the spring season. On Monday the baseball team won the MVC Small School Championship, its third in the past five years, with a 6-5 nine inning win over Dracut. Junior pitcher Scott Favreau went the distance to improve to 15-1 in his almost three full seasons under coach Ron Drouin. The team is currently 12-2 with 6 to go including a Monday match-up against Wilmington beginning at 3:30 at Strong Field.

Yes, Tewksbury does have three outstanding pitchers. They also have arguably the best catcher in Eastern Mass in Tom Sullivan, who'll take his golden right arm to Amherst to hopefully become both their starting catcher in baseball and starting quarterback in football. Right now Sully is leading the small school conference with a .438 batting average, which is second in the entire league behind Central's Brad Tardugno. Sully has 21 hits in 48 at-bats including 1 homer and 14 RBI before Monday's game against Dracut which saw him belt his second homer of the season.

As good as the pitching has been - Scott Favreau, Kevin Doherty and Anthony Labo have combined for all 12 wins and 2 saves - the timely hitting of Sully and also freshman D.J. Bettencourt has been a big factor. Bettencourt started out a little slow but has been belting everything in sight lately, even so he's second in the small school conference behind Sully with a .409 clip. Bettencourt has 20 hits with 6 games to go - not bad for a freshman. Not bad at all.

On Monday the baseball team won the small school championship. On Tuesday the girls track team won its 500th straight MVC title, getting a little carried away of course but you get the picture, with its fifth straight undefeated season and that's with a depleted roster due to injuries to several of its better athletes namely Racheal O'Brien and Andrea Toland. Toland has the best mark in the 400 in the conference at 60.3 and that came before pulling a hamstring. She hopes to be back possibly by this weekend. Laura Petros has the best time in the 200 at 26.1.

With the Class C State Meet just two weeks away on the 27th, the girls will be looking for bigger and better things and with a healthy Andrea Toland, a healthy Kerri Aherne, and the emergence of a terrific trio in the pole vault and several others, this team could do some damage.

While the baseball team won its small school crown on Monday, the softball team came an inch closer of doing the same on the same day. This time pitcher Amy Von Kahle tossed her second no-hitter of the season in the team's 6-0 thumping over Haverhill. Before Monday's gem, Von Kahle had very impressive stats. Now? OK how about an 15-0 record, 114 strikeouts in 103 innings and an earned run average of 0.34.

And you know who is leading the small school conference in hitting? Freshman Kelly Boyle, who went 4-for-4 on Monday to up her average to .471 on the season, not to mention her 13 RBI. She also played baseball all of her life before last year, and yes, she's just a freshman.

The girls have also won the small school championship for the third straight season, as have Everett (11-2), Notre Dame Academy (7-6), Lawrence (1-8), Billerica (9-5) and Wilmington (9-4) remaining as they look to be the fourth female team from Tewksbury this school year to go undefeated during regular season play.

It's been quite an exciting year for Tewksbury sports. Let's hope it continues with the warm weather here.

Girls Hoop Clinic

The Tewksbury Girls Varsity Basketball team along with the Tewksbury Recreation Department will be sponsoring an upcoming clinic for girls ages 7-12.

The clinic will be held on June 13 and 14 from 6-8 pm at the Tewksbury High Gymnasium. The cost is $5 per person per night.

Those interested in going are urged to pick up applications at Tewksbury Memorial High School or the Teen Center and hand them in by June 9.

Any questions, call Kaitlyn O'Brien at 851-3943 or Nicole Poirier at 658-4058.

TMHS, get ready to rumble

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

TEWKSBURY - Some heavy duty rasslin' will be coming to the Tewksbury Memorial High School, and no, it will not involve any athletic students with a position in the 103-pound weight class.

On Sunday, May 21 you are invited to get ready to rumble. The world of professional wrestling is going to come crashing down on the high school gymnasium when "Sweet" Pete Waters and other muscle-bound mammoths will show up to rolls some heads.

Of course, there is nothing more interesting than seeing one giant throw another out of a wrestling ring and into an audience waiting to devour them, but here's another interesting and crucial tidbit to get pumped over. The attending wrestlers not only have thick necks, towering heights, and muscles of steel - they have soft hearts, as well. The May 21 bout will be to benefit certain youths who one day may grow up to be the one thing that stands between us and anarchy.

The event will serve the dual purpose of adrenalizing entertainment for the masses and a fundraiser for the Tewksbury Police Explorers.

You've no doubt seen the Police Explorers on a number of occasions. You may even have a teenager who wears such a title like a badge. The Explorers belong to a career-learning division of the Boy Scouts of America. They're young scouts between the ages of 14 and 21 who one day want to professionally take that oath to protect and to serve.

Says Keith Layne, the advisor to the Police Explorers, "We meet bi-monthly and we train them in matters pertaining specifically to law enforcement. We often have officers from surrounding cities and towns come speak."

Lots of teenagers go to parades and other public functions to hoot and holler. Have you ever seen a teenager at one of those events carrying himself with a certain authority and level of observation? Chances are, that teen was a Police Explorer.

Says Layne, "We often help out with crowd and traffic control."

In fact, the Police Explorers have even assisted with crowd and traffic control at the Boston Marathon.

"The Explorers have also participated in a number of search-and-rescue missions, as well," says Layne, naming a case from years ago that called for the search of a missing girl in Kingston, Massachusetts.

The Wrestling Fund-raiser will help raise money for two police mountain bikes that the young Explorers will be able to ride during such occasions and others.

The money to be converted from body slams and head locks will also be used for other pieces of law enforcement equipment and trips for the Explorers.

"We'll be attending the National Law Enforcement Explorers Conference in Atlanta in July," says Layne. "It'll be the first time that we go there since 1992. Some of the money from this fund-raiser will be used for that trip, but not too much. Only four Police Explorers are going, so it wouldn't be a fair way to disperse the money for those who aren't."

Tickets to the wrestling bout are $15, which may roughly come out to be 17 cents per instance in which "Sweet" Pete Waters hurls a challenger out of the ring. Interested in feeling the pain? Call Layne at 640-4381, extension 237. Tickets will also be on sale out front of the Market Basket at Stadium Plaza on Friday, May 19th, from 4 p.m. until it closes.

The event, which will be a production by World Professional Wrestling, should last two hours. It will be broken down into eight matches, including an Over-the Top Battle Royale.

Layne has an assurance that he'd like to make to parents who wrestle with the notion of teaching their children not to fight and at the same time taking them to see grown men fight like gladiators straight out of ancient Rome.

Says Layne, "The event's promoter, Michael Rush, has assured us that we're in for some G-rated entertainment."

Adds Layne, "A lot of people don't think that big-time wrestling will ever come to Tewksbury. I've been told that some of these guys are going to be seen in the WWF (World Wrestling Federation) in the near future."

Just think. One of these guys on the 21st could actually go on to reduce The Rock to a pebble.

You don't know who The Rock is? That's okay. Bet your teenaged son does.

Wilmington Little League Red Sox streak continues

Major League Baseball

Red Sox 13, Twins 1

Steve Peterson and Sean Murphy combined on a no hitter while striking out 14. Jeff Youngclaus led the way with three doubles and five rbi's, while Peterson and Murphy had two hits apiece to lead the attack.

Tom Miele pitched well in relief for the Twins.

Red Sox 4, Yankees 2

Steve Peterson and Sean Murphy shut down the Yankees in a 4-2 Red Sox victory. Jeff Youngclaus drove in two runs with a double. Sean MacSweeney had a single to help pace the attack.

For the Yankees Alex Montaldo drove in one run and pitched well.

Red Sox 20, Tigers 6

Sean MacSweeney, Mike Earles and Brendon Sheenan paced the 13 hit attack with two hits apiece for the Red Hot Sox. Shane Foley pitched well in relief of Steve Peterson with Sean Murphy finishing up on the mound.

Red Sox 12, Indians 0

The Red Sox shut out the Indians. Once again, Steve Peterson and Sean Murphy combined on a two hit shut out striking out 14 Indians.

For the Sox, Tim Cushing and Chris Burns had key rbi's spurning on the victory. Ernie Mello performed well behind the plate for the Sox. For the Indians, Brady and Wilson had singles.

Red Sox 8, A's 2

The Hot Sox cooled off the A's behind the pitching of Sean Murphy and Steve Peterson. Shane Foley drove in five runs with a single, double and triple. Tim Cushing drove in two runs to break the game open. Key defensive plays were turned in by Mike Earles and Brendon Sheenan.

For the A's Chris Danko pitched well in relief.

Rocco's Restaurant Yankees 10

Brady Roofing Indians 2

Yankee pitchers Mike Fissore and Mike Sorrentino held the Indians batters to just one hit and two runs, while striking out 15.

The Indians lone hit came off the bat of Jimmy Good. Jimmy Good and Joe Demare were the pitchers of record for the Indians. As for the Yankees offense, it was aided by 3 first inning errors by the Indians. Kyle Borsetti reached base safely 3 times, while Mike Fissore and Mike Sorrentino helped their own cause by reaching base twice each. Scott Dunnett, Greg Stewart, and Matt Marden also contributed to the Yankee offense. Evan Borsetti scored 3 runs and Michael Enwright made a nice catch in centerfield.

Rocco's Restaurant Yankees 3

Royal Dynasty Twins 2

Youth Softball

The 2000 Brewers picked up their first youth softball win on Monday night, defeating the Mariners 9-8 with a two run rally in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Erin Magee went the distance for the Brewers striking out 10 Mariners to record her first win of the season.

The Brewers offensive attack was led by Colleen Magee, Kim James, Alison Costello and Samantha Barchard.

The Defense was led by the fine catching of Dana Nolan, and outstanding defensive plays by Colleen Carroll, Brittany Danehy and Kim James.

The Mariners pitching was also outstanding with Maggie Sorrentino getting her first start and striking out five Brewers in four innings of work. Stephanie Steeves caught and excellent game for the Mariners.

The Mariner offense was led by homeruns from Christie Witkowski and Kayla Humes.

Cyclones provide own storm on Saturday

The forecast was for possible rain, but there was a tornado brewing on Saturday as the U10A Cyclones blew by Reading with a score of 9-1. Elizabeth Wilson played another superb game at left forward, setting up some great plays and getting off many nice shots on the Reading goalie.

Midfielder Katie Cole opened up the scoring with a high hard boot from outside the box that flew past the goalie.

Forward Christa Cavallaro was next in line to score, aggressively pursuing the ball then converting with a strong boot from the right side. The next goal for Wilmington was a nice shot by forward Jen O'Neill who picked up a missed attempt by the Cyclones and tipped it into the net for score number three.

Goal four was the result of a long, hard free kick from sweeper Jessica Stira that bounced off the Reading goalie. Forward Jessica Labrecque hustled for the rebound and slammed it past the keeper for the score.

The Reading team made a goalie substitution to try to stop the storming Cyclones, but the attack continued with midfielder Stephanie Sauve weaving her way through the Reading team with a run up the center of the field, blasting the ball in for goal number five.

The final score of the half for Wilmington was by forward Nicole Nihan, who battled for the ball then sank a hard shot from the left side. Reading scored a fluke goal at the end of the half off a lucky bounce and the Cyclones enjoyed a five goal lead at half time with a score of 6-1.

The offensive attack continued in the second half with the Cyclones continuing to dominate the play. Leah Potner, fresh out of the net, stepped up and fired a few nice shots on net before scoring goal number seven for the team. Brittany Concannon showed her expertise in the mid fielder position, providing both offensive and defensive support throughout the game.

Goal eight was a coast to coast run up the middle of the field for Stephanie Sauve's second goal of the game, and sweeper Dana Nolan, who took a few shifts at midfield, added the final goal with a line drive blast from the left side.

The game ended with a score of 9-1 bringing the Cyclone's record to an incredible 6-0-0 in Division I Soccer competition. Next week the team has a heavy schedule playing Saturday and Sunday at Textron and Thursday evening in Billerica for games seven, eight and nine of the spring season.

Winn competes nationally

Northeast All-Star Cheerleader Brittanni Winston of Wilmington, competed recently in a national cheerleading competition at Cheer & Dance/Drill Team America in Hershey Park, Penn.

This senior open All Star team is made up of girls from across the state. Northeast All-Stars is a very young senior All-Star team. Most senior Allstar teams are made up of high schoolers.

These girls are ages nine to 16, with only three high school girls among them. The Northeast Allstars did, however bring home nine trophies including:

First place grand champion All-Stars

First place senior team All-Stars
Outstanding tumbling
Outstanding audience appeal
Outstanding routine
Cheerdance grand sweepstakes 2000

This qualifies their scores to compete against all other grand sweepstakes winners across the U.S. for the grand prize trip to the Bahamas.

The coaches are Jessica Porcaro and Janette Buonopane. Thank you, Jessica and Janette for a job well done.

Next year they plan to have two teams, a junior and a senior Allstar team. For tryout information call Jessica at 1-617-254-1822.

Under 10B Boys not short of excitement

The first half of this weekend's Wilmington Under 10 Boys' youth soccer game was very exciting with the ball being carried back and forth by two determined teams.

A great offensive play came from Mike Condell after the ball was cleared out of the Wilmington end. Mike chased the ball and caught up just before it went out of bounds. He redirected it toward the goal but a fast North Reading defense covered up before another Wilmington forward could get a shot.

Andrew DellaPelle made the first goal of the day two and a half minutes into the first half on a feed from Jonathan Derrick.

Keeper David Reed neatly blocked a fast break by two North Reading forwards against a lone keeper on a great save.

Chris Welch kicked the second goal of the game on a pass from Steven Marsh nine minutes into the first half.

After some back and forth action, North Reading tried to clear the ball away from their end. Andrew DellaPelle recovered it in their zone and kicked in the third goal 12 minutes into the first half.

As the first half was winding down, an excellent Michael Condell throw-in gave two Wilmington forwards a great opportunity in front of the North Reading keeper before an alert defender managed to break it up.

The second half started with a Nick Jannone kickoff that had the Wilmington forwards sweeping past the two North Reading defenders. An alert No. Reading keeper scooped up the ball and prevented another goal.

The rest of the second half was a nail biter as North Reading stepped up on the offense and kept the ball in the Wilmington zone for most of the half. Joe Cerbone made two great rapid-fire saves. Joe lunged at the ball kicked by one North Reading forward and caught it with his foot. After kicking it back into play, another North Reading forward launched the ball back from near mid-field, where Joe caught it and covered it up.

The rest of the second half was a defensive struggle with Craig Bush, Nathan Clarkin and Andrew Donovan preserving the Wilmington lead. The game ended as a 3-0 shutout for Wilmington.

Under 9A boys

The Wilmington boys U9A travel soccer team was back in action this past Saturday at the Textron fields.

The boys were hoping to continue their winning ways against a team from Everett. Ricky Belding and Ryan Searles were unbelievable, taking turns in the sweeper position, clearing the ball from our goal area and controlling our defensive end. Kevin Moran was in goal and was rarely challenged during the half.

The passing from the midfield and forward lines was picture perfect. This team has developed into a solid unit, learning to play well together. One well played passing sequence resulted in a goal with Jonathan Spurr and Michael Scola working the ball between them and sending it across to Jason Pereira. Pereira was in great position to kick the ball into the net to finish the play.

Colin Wilson took over goal tending duties in the second half, now protected by defenders Michael DeRosa and Justin DiRienzo. Sheer determination and aggressiveness by Kenny Vassallo, Stephen Stewart and Jonathan Spurr kept the very solid and large Everett defense working hard. Kevin Moran kept the forward line, with solid kicks from Moran, Belding and Spurr being rejected by some strong goal keeping from Everett.

While Wilmington maintained the majority of the ball possession, Everett's defense kept the Wildcats from adding to the score. However, one goal was all that was needed for the locals to add another win to their season. Final score: Wilmington 1; Everett 0.

Blue Devils stay tough

The Wilmington Blue Devils were on the road for the second straight week as they traveled to Concord on a damp and drizzly Saturday. It turned out to be the roughest and toughest game that the girls had to play all season.

In the first 15 minutes, Concord totally dominated play with pinpoint passing and aggressive tactics. The AAA defensive unit of Alice Murray, Alison Audette and Alyssa Bibeau along with stopper Taylor Duffy, tried valiantly to fight off the swarming Concord players offensive forays but to no avail. Concord scored in the first five minutes on a nice crossing pass that was blasted into the net despite keeper Julia Stein's best effort to save the ball.

About five minutes later Concord converted another crossing pass and this time blasted the ball into the top corner of the goal for a 2-0 lead. Up to this point Wilmington was unable to produce any consistent offense that would give the defense any chance to rest a little, but that would soon change.

Midfielder Mallory DeRosa decided to take things into her own hands as she controlled the ball at midfield. Mal dumped a perfect long pass off to striker Erica Frizol who was streaking up the right side of the field. Erica took the pass in stride and placed another perfect pass back to the center midfielder Kathleen Strazzere who was flying toward the Concord goal. Kat chipped the ball right over the top of a charging Concord keeper and into the net for a picture perfect goal.

From this point on things started to even out and the Blue Devils went into half time down 2-1.

With Wilmington finally starting to play their game, the defense was able to control Concord's offensive threats a little better. Kim Gentile switching between midfield and fullback played an outstanding game for the Blue Devils. She was tough as nails as she took several direct blasts from the ball and one vicious elbow to the face but she refused to go down and played on.

Katie Celli played a strong game in the midfield as she used her size and toughness to break down Concord's attempts to play the ball into Wilmington's defensive end.

Amanda Miles took over in goal the second half and she gobbled up every ball with several outstanding saves. Jennifer Comer also came up big despite suffering a hip bruise in the first half as she gave the rough stuff right back to Concord and stifled any Concord players who came her way. Julie Stein playing midfield was able to play several nice balls back into Concord's end and Erin Magee and Amber Warnick took some nice shots on net but to no avail.

With time running out Wilmington had a few more nice attempts to tie up the game as several shots just went wide or were picked off by an outstanding Concord keeper and the Blue Devils suffered their first loss of the season, 2-1.

Under 13 Girls provide exciting action

Saturday, May 13 saw Wilmington play host to the team from Waltham. It was an interesting game with most of the action in the Waltham zone.

Teresa DeSimone challenged the defenders early in the first half and then coordinated offensive play from Jessica Alosco to Jackie Rideout fed the ball to Debbie Lyons who booted one past the Waltham keeper for the first score. Jackie Rideout scored the game's second goal on a setup pass from Debbie Lyons.

Bringing the score to 3-0, Caitlin McNabb combined with Bridget Kent to challenge the Waltham keeper and Bridge was able to score. Lani Cabral-Pini played an assertive game and set up a pass that Jackie Rideout lofted past the Waltham keeper to make the score 4-0.

Jackie completed her hat trick by using her speed and getting past the Waltham defender, scooting one past the keeper to make the score 5-0. Katharine McMahon, Ryan Murphy and Holly Brown were able to effectively keep the pressure in the Waltham zone, moving the ball with precise passing and ball control. Teresa DeSimone was awarded the offensive player award for her determined play and in her effort in keeping Waltham off balance.

Defense, defense, defense, game number eight registered shutout number eight. Kelly Crosby, Kerry Porter, Celine DeMaggio played a hustling game to prevent the Waltham offense from setting up a complete offensive drive. Sarah McGowan, Krystina Smith and Caitlin Foley again played an effective defensive effort with crisp passing, attacking the ball and quickly clearing the Wilmington zone. Keeper Alicia Braid was solid in goal, turning away all shots on net. Caitlin Foley was awarded the defensive player for her hustle and effective defensive play.

Friday, May 19, will see the Lady Wildcats face Woburn, the only other undefeated team in the division. A great game is expected. Good Luck is extended to this fine Wilmington team.

Under 11A Boys went up for a big test

A severely depleted version of Wilmington's U11 Boys A soccer team took the field on Saturday to host a rematch with Waltham.

Missing three players and head coach Bill Kent, the ensuing contest proved to be a stern test of the remaining participants' mettle. The early action saw Waltham drive deep into Wilmington's zone.

A spectacular diving one-handed save by goalie Brendan Sheehan prevented Waltham's bid to take an early lead.

A few moments later, Wilmington executed its initial offensive flurry with a strong charge up the middle by Tim Kent. Kent fed Chris Azevedo for the first of many Wilmington shots to come.

Midway through the half, a dangerous three on one breakaway was snuffed out by the ever reliable Brian Johnson, whose defensive prowess have become legendary throughout the league.

With the ball safely back in Waltham's zone, the combination of Kent, Azevedo and Dana Steenbruggen sustained a relentless offensive barrage. Firing off six shots in rapid succession, the front line began wearing down a resilient Waltham defense.

Numerous attempts by Waltham's goalie to extricate his team from the assault failed as the dauntless duo of Josh Mayo and Derek Hanson repeatedly redirected goal kicks back toward the Waltham end. There, Pat Ryan muscled his way through the defense and set up Brendan DeMango for a long range missile that finally struck pay dirt, and put Wilmington ahead 1-0.

With only a one goal lead to show for their first half efforts, Wilmington came out quickly in the second half. Mayo immediately confiscated the opening kick by Waltham and drove the attack back into their zone.

Then, less than two minutes into the half, Wilmington suffered another setback when DeMango, the player responsible for the only goal of the match, was felled by an injury.

Continuing now with a single substitute, Wilmington's intensity level increased. A nascent Waltham drive was derailed when Matt Brooks charged into the fray with reckless abandon, colliding with the opponents and ending any further advance.

A subsequent steal by Greg Stewart started another long period of Wilmington offensive pressure. Justin Patrie displayed some impressive dribbling ability as he set up Mayo for another assault on the Waltham goal. Sheehan dispelled any notion that his capabilities were confined to the goal box when he deftly stole the ball on three successive occasions to keep Wilmington attacks alive.

And when it wasn't Sheehan keeping the pressure on, it was Zach Church repelling Waltham's attempted breakouts. Despite dominating the action, Wilmington was unable to break through. Then, as so often happens in such cases, a sudden breakaway by Waltham completely reversed the tide, and resulted in a game tying score by Waltham.

The hotly contested battle remained tied into the final moments of the half. A strong offensive flurry in front of the Waltham net was stymied when yet another Wilmington player was struck down by an injury. This time it was Justin Patrie who had to be helped off the field.

It is, as they say, always darkest before the dawn. And so it was with less than three minutes left and no substitutes available that the weary Wilmington contingent stood bravely on the field of battle refusing to capitulate to the apparent desire of fate.

With storm clouds gathering overhead as it to mirror the shroud of gloom that hung over the Wilmington faithful, the referee readied the players to resume play with a dropped ball, but storm clouds can bring lightning and lightning can strike quickly.

Wilmington's lightning this day was provided by Tim Kent who seized control of the dropped ball, fought his way to the center field and fired off a shot with surgical like precision, putting Wilmington back ahead 2-1.

Goalkeeper Pat Ryan took over from there, easily handing a final desperate attempt by Waltham in the waning moments, thus securing an exciting victory for the home town team.

Panthers' offense strong early on

This past week the Wilmington Panthers U10 girls, Division 3 team played two games, a makeup vs Stoneham and a scheduled game vs North Reading. In the Stoneham game, wet and sloppy field conditions made it difficult for both teams. However, Jessica Metcalfe, Natalie Melkonian, Megan Keane and Cameron Woodbury generated many shots and sustained pressure on the Stoneham goal.

Alyssa Brown made a tremendous save on a Stoneham shot on goal. Kate Stevenson played her usual consistent defensive game breaking up offensive drives and turning the ball back the other way. Danielle Fiorentino, Michelle Phillips, Ryan Mary Giroux and Allison Collins continued to showcase the Panthers passing skills. The Panthers dominated the offensive play in the first half, but were unable to score. The first half ended 0-0.

The second half again had the Panthers moving the ball but they were unable to capitalize on a couple of great scoring opportunities. First, Jessica Metcalfe made a well placed pass to Megan Keane who shot the ball just wide of the Stoneham goal. Alyssa Brown came up with another great save in goal. Then Natalie Melkonian set up Jessica Metcalfe for another shot on goal that was just wide. The game ended in a scoreless tie.

In the game vs North Reading the Panthers were looking for payback in their only loss of the season. Both teams came out strong and aggressive. In the first half, the game became a midfield defensive battle with both teams attempting to deny the other shots on goal. North Reading began to penetrate the Panthers stingy defense and began getting shots on goal.

However, this game belonged to Alyssa Brown, she ate dirt making save after save frustrating the powerful North Reading offense. Jessica Metcalfe, Danielle Fiorentino and Michelle Phillips did some tremendous work moving the ball into the North Reading zone. Natalie Melkonian was able to get three shots off a goal but all were stopped. The Panthers knew they were in a real cat fight and pulled out all the stops, aggressive at every play. Cameron Woodbury placed several goal kicks into the North Reading zone. At the end of the first half the Panthers ran off the field as North Reading walked slowly toward their bench with the score tied 0-0.

The second half of the game began with the Panthers dominating play in the North Reading zone forcing their goalie to make several key stops. Ryan Mary Giroux moved the ball with purpose, Nikki Sullivan was fearless, jumping into the action, Megan Keane and Jessica Metcalfe stood up strong against North Reading's defense and continually put pressure on the goal. Natalie Melkonian was an offensive nemesis, constantly being double teamed. Cameron Woodbury was a rock on defense stopping the play and hitting tremendous kicks downfield into the North Reading zone.

However, North Reading was able to break through the Panther defense. Alyssa Brown ate dirt and came up huge. The first score of the game came half way into the second half when Cameron Woodbury, on a goal kick, hit Natalie Melkonian standing past the midfield line and Natalie took the ball, turned the right corner and drilled a 25 foot blast into the net for the first score of the game. North Reading, fearful of facing its first loss, became tenacious and driven into the Panthers goal.

Alyssa Brown came up huge again and again. With a couple minutes left in the game, North Reading free throw in the Panthers' zone moved the ball to the right and hit a low shot to the side of the net to tie the game. The Panthers pressed and with time almost expiring, were given an opportunity for one last corner kick. Oh, so close.

Rams' baseball looks to finish up strong

By MICHAEL LIUZZA
Sports Correspondent

For most of the day, everything was quiet for the Billerica home team. The fans, the wind, and especially, Shawsheen Tech's bats.

The Purple Rams faced off against Northeast on Monday afternoon, and were almost completely shutout in several categories. Knight's pitcher Mike Deerborn, one of the best in the conference, stifled the Ram's bats for most of the day, actually carrying a perfect game into the fifth inning before surrendering an infield single. But Northeast didn't have much trouble scoring runs, cracking two home runs and going on to win the game, 9-1.

"Deerborn is one of the best pitchers in the league," said head Shawsheen coach Jim DeLuca. "He has lost a couple of times, but those losses haven't really been his fault."

It was indeed a great day for Deerborn. The senior hurled all seven innings, giving up just three hits and one run while striking out 10 and walking just one. He lost his perfect game bid in the fifth, and then lost the shutout in the bottom of the seventh.

Shawsheen pitcher Kevin Clague put together an impressive, courageous performance of his own. Despite surrendering twelve hits, Clague never let up and continued to work hard the entire game.

"Clague didn't throw badly at all today," said DeLuca. "Some of the hits he gave up just fell in, but he never quit."

Northeast came out swinging in the first. The Knights brought a quick four runs across the plate behind four hits, including a triple. In the second, Northeast's lead-off hitter cracked a homer to right, putting the Knights up, 5-0. Meanwhile, Deerborn continued to roll, striking out five of the first nine batters he faced.

Once again in the fourth Northeast led off with a homer deep to right. In the fifth, the Knights exploded for four more runs behind three singles, a walk and a double. But what also hurt the Rams were two overthrows, one to second and one two first, both off which ended up in the outfield and led to runs.

The Rams finally got it's first hit in the fifth when local Brian Leblanc hustled down the line and beat out and infield single to second. This broke up both the no-no and the perfect game.

Then in the seventh the Rams got on the board. Wilmington's Derek McLaren ripped a single, and then stole second on a pass ball. He then came around to score on Tewksbury's Brian O'Hara's single, putting an end to Deerborn's shutout. But in the end it really didn't matter as Northeast prevailed, 9-1.

Despite Shawsheen's 4-11 record, DeLuca and the Rams hope to finish the year off on a positive note.

"We have five games left in the season, and the game plan is to put together some wins and play good baseball."

Camps, notes and ramblings

ASA Softball Tryouts

There will be a try-out for any girls interested in playing travel softball this summer for the Wildcat 14 and under team. Any girls who were born Jan 1, 1986 or after are eligible for the tryout.

Past team members who have played on both last year's team and the winter indoor team do not have to tryout.

The try-out will be held on Sunday, May 21st at 5:00 pm at the High School Field.

For more information, you can call Paul Lyman at 978-744-1717 (nights) or 657-5189 (days).

Alumni Softball Game

On Friday, May 26 at 7 pm at Aprille Field, there will be a softball game between the current Wilmington High softball team and alumni players. Past players include Judy O'Connell, Leanne Harris, Lynette Berger, Lindsay Currier, Jacqui Holloway, Jacqui Hayden, as well as current freshman coach Leanne McConologue, who was said to be jokingly by coach Paul Lyman as "a trader".

Jack Cushing will be coaching the alumni team, and he seems pretty sure that his troops will outplay Lyman's team which has won five games in a row.

Defensesmen School

A specialized defensesmen hockey school will take place at the Chelmsford Forum July 31 to August 4 for ages eight to 13.

August 28 to September 1 will be for players ages 14 to 17. For more information call 603-929-4967.

Come down and watch the former "or the has beens" take on the current stars in a game that will provide lots of fun and laughs.

Harris awarded

Speaking of Harris, she was just named the Massachusetts State College Athletic Conference Player of the Year in softball.

Youth Football Camp

Sign-ups for the annual Wildcat youth football camp are currently going on now. The camp will be on June 26th from 9 am to 12:30 at WHS. Current varsity coach Bob Almeida and his staff will be conducting the camp, while some of the counselors include current players Josh Hiltz, Jim Fennelly, Bob French and Mark Jepson. The camp is a non-contact skills expedition, stressing fundamentals and it will include contests, competitions and games. For a brochure or more information please call Coach Almeida at 781-942-7433.

Lecesse awarded

Former Wilmington High three-sport athlete Cheryl Lecesse was recently named the Colby-Sawyer Most Improved Player as a distance runner of the women's outdoor track team.

Ruiz fight

Chelase native John Ruiz and his manager Norm Stone of Wilmington are currently gearing up for the June 10th battle against Evander Holyfield for the WBA Heavyweight Boxing Championship of the world in Las Vegas.

Road Race results

Several locals took part in the Battle Road Run at the Hanscom Air Force Base in Lexington on Sunday. The locals include Tewks-bury natives Mary Alice Brady (48:23), the Town Crier's Female Athlete of the Decade, Dennis Jack (49:23), whose story was told her a few weeks back when he ran the Boston Marathon, as well as Richard Brady (59:50), Mary Alice's father.

Auto Racing

Several locals from Tewksbury took part in the Sugar Hill Speedway races this past weekend. Kristen Gath took second place in the Junior Champ race, while, Russ Caswell took first in the senior champ division.

Volleyball Coach

Tewksbury Memorial High School is looking for a varsity volleyball coach for this upcoming season. Please call athletic director Bob Aylward if you are interested at 640-7834.

Ogden takes first

Stephanie Ogden of Tewksbury took first place in the first week of the Massachusetts Women's Bowling Association's 37th tournament held at Airway Lanes. She bowled a 702 to shoot into first place in the Division III singles event. She is also among the scratch leaders in the Division III singles event with a 524 score.

The tournament will conclude June 18th.

Other Collegiate Athletes

Tewksbury native Ben Christopher was named one of the football captains of the UMaine team for this upcoming season. Over at Tufts University, catcher Joe Surprenant had a fantastic season as the team's catcher gunning out almost every base stealer, as he named to the All-Conference second team for his efforts. At Central Connecticut, freshman Brad Columbus was recently given a partial athletic scholarship after his splendid frosh season. He recently was clocked at 49.7 in the quarter-mile. Emily King, of Wilmington, also is a member of the Salem State softball team.

Austin Prep Baseball

Adam Mazza of Wilmington is once again of a tremendous athletic team. After winning a Super Bowl as the team's quarterback, and then being a winger on the second line of the Elite 8 bound Austin Prep ice hockey team, he is a leftfielder for the 13-2 Cougar baseball team under Paul Mayo.

Baseball School

The North Reading Baseball School will be conducting its camp during the following one-week sessions: June 26 and July 10.

All one-week sessions are held from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. daily. Tuition is $150.00 and includes daily lunch, soda, t-shirt and cookout.

Specialty camps for pitchers, catchers or hitting July 6, 7 ($65). Excellent staff with low ratio. For more information call Frank Carey at 781-595-5628 or write to North Reading Baseball School, P.O. Box 161, North Reading, MA 01864.

Wildcat Hoop Camp

Wildcat Basketball Camp will be held June 12-16 for boys (filled); June 19 to 23 for girls (some openings).

Questions may be directed to 978-470-1128 or 978-694-6040.

Compiled by Jamie Pote, however, some of the information came from various press releases.

Four locals to participate in NCAA Regional tourney

Four locals will be participating in this week's NCAA Northeast Regional Baseball tournament to be held at Lowell's LaLachur Park beginning on Thursday and ending on Saturday (weather permitted).

Billy Harrison, of Wilmington, a junior shortstop on the Stonehill College baseball team and Ron Heald of Tewksbury, a sophomore outfielder, have helped the Chieftains, of head coach Patrick Boen earn their first ever trip to the NCAA Division II Northeast Regionals, scheduled to begin May 18 at LeLachur Park in Lowell. Stonehill, which captured both the regular season and tournament championships of the Northeast-10 Conference, is seeded second in the Northeast Regional and will battle third-seeded Concordia, N.Y. on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock in the first round of the double elimination tournament.

In 19 outings this season, Heald is batting .290 with a double and two runs batted in.

In 17 outings this season, Harrison is batting .364 with a homer and six runs batted in.

Stonehill has a school record 32 games this spring and enters the NCAA Regional having won 13 of its last 14 contests.

Also playing in the same tournament will be Sean Kerrigan, an outfielder from Wilmington, and Matt Petros, also an outfielder from Tewksbury, on the hosted UMass-Lowell team. The RiverHawks will play game two on Thursday, scheduled for 7 pm at LeLachur Park against St. Rose College.

Through May 8, Kerrigan was batting .317 for the season, with 45 hits in 142 at-bats. Through that time he had played 38 of the team's 39 games, belting 8 doubles, 2 triples, 3 homers, while he has knocked in 36 teammates. He also walked 11 times, got hit ten times for on base percentage of .395, while he is slugging .465. He has struck out just 18 times, once in every 13 at-bats which is an excellent ratio.

In his new outfield position, Kerrigan has a perfect 1.000 fielding percentage, making all 53 putouts.

Petros, on the other hand, was batting .254 through May 8, playing in 21 of the team's 39 games. He had two doubles, two triples, one homer and knocked in 19 teammates. He also had made just one error in 39 chances.

Youth soccer continues impressive play from page 21

Kusa, Cara Jenkins and Renee Waitt, Matt Murphy and Tom Nelson were minding the net.

For Galaxy, Jerry Gagne scored for the team. Amanda Gagne and Tom Coughlin played a great offensive game with Lindsay Brown and Jason Evans working hard on the defense. Cliff Hall was awesome in the net for the Galaxy.

Rapids vs Stars

World cup style between the Rapids and the Stars. For the Stars, Krysten Angello scored for the team. Tim Ryan, Jason Serino, Sarah Travares, Megan Hand and Tara Jabour played a great offensive game with Justin Patel, Samantha Gillis, Katie McPeeters and Leah Hudson playing a strong defensive game. Chris LeFave was awesome in the net.

For the Rapids, Greg Bell scored for the team. Jeremy Sanderson, Laura Gillis, Charlene Seidman and Richard Pantano made great plays on offense while Patrick Stoeck, Nick Hogan and Emily O'Donoghue were awesome on the defense. Stephanie Seidman and Elysha Clancy shared the goalie duties.

Fire vs Crew

World cup like battle was waged between these two teams. For the Crew, Alyssa Hanley scored. Emily and Ellen Largenton and Nick Ippolito played an outstanding offensive game. Amanda Weymouth, Janie Folk and Mike Golden were awesome on the defense. Christina Giardina was awesome in the net for the Crew.

For the Fire, Richard Micicette scored. Ashley Robarge, Jacquelin Smith, Bobby Brennan and Kevin Cavanaugh made some great offensive plays while Amanda Dunnett, Zach Broman, Kaitlyn Jordan and Kyle Mendleson were outstanding on defense. Richard Micicette and Steven Shabila were awesome in the net.

(SEAL)

CASE NO: 6036-S-2000-04

TO: The Heirs, Devisees and Legal Representatives of Dennis F. Sheridan now or formerly of Malden.

You are hereby notified that a complaint has been filed in this Court by James L. Woods, et als, alleging that:

1. Certificate of Title No. 3013 issued by the North Registry District of Middlesex County stands in the name of Dennis F. Sheridan.

2. A Tax Taking by the Town of Wilmington was registered as Document No. 13185 and noted on Certificate of Title No. 3013 on November 22, 1938.

3. Thereafter, an Affidavit of Low Value was registered as Document No. 15865 and noted on Certificate of Title No. 3013 on June 25, 1943.

4. A Treasurer's Deed under the provisions of G.L. Chapter 60 § 79, as amended, running in favor of the Town of Wilmington was registered as Document No. 15914 and noted on Certificate of Title No. 3013 on July 29, 1943.

5. A deed from the Town of Wilmington to Joseph H. Woods was registered as Document No. 16201 on January 3, 1944.

Petitioner prays that said Certificate of Title No. 3013 be cancelled and a new certificate of title be issued to the heirs and devisees of Joseph H. Woods, et als, as owner pursuant to law.

It is ORDERED: that the plaintiffs are hereby ordered to serve the within notice by publishing the same once in the Town Crier, a newspaper published in Wilmington, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth, at least twenty-one days before said return day.

and if you desire to make any objection or defense to said petition, you or your attorney must file a written appearance and an answer under oath setting forth clearly and specifically your objection or defense to each part of said petition in the Office of the Recorder of this Court, in Boston, at the New Chardon Street Courthouse on or before the 12th day of June, 2000.

Marchand Brings Integrity to the Ring

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

There will be fair fights in Massachusetts if Reading Police Chief Edward Marchand has anything to say about it.

As of last Tuesday, when it was announced by State Senator Richard Tisei (R-Third Middlesex) that Chief Marchand would be one of the boxing commissioners he will have the opportunity to have a lot to say about it.

Marchand has been named to serve out the remaining year on former Commissioner Mark DePucca's term of office. He will be serving with Nick Manzello, a sportswriter with the Worcester Telegram and Gazette, and Quion Riley of Dorchester.

In a telephone interview, Manzello said it was a good choice.

"We need level headed people," Manzello said.

Marchand has been seeing to it that boxing in this state, and throughout the world, has been on the up and up, at least as far as any bouts where he has been the judge are concerned. He has been a certified judge with the International Boxing Federation (IBF), the International Boxing Organization (IBO), the North American Boxing Federation (NABF), and the United States Boxing Association (USBA) for just about 15 years. Most of the work Marchand does is with the IBF.

"I've done some world title fights in South Africa and New York," Marchand said, "and I'm going to Mexico at the end of the month for an IBF convention."

Sen. Tisei, in making his announcement said of Marchand, "They needed a person with integrity. He's been a judge and really involved in the boxing community."

According to Tisei, Marchand was not a shoo-in for the position.

"It was very competitive," the state Senator said. "They had a lot of applicants."

According to Marchand, his name was placed in nomination last November, along with an estimated 25 to 30 other applicants. He added that Tisei was not the first to inform him of the appointment, as that honor went to State Auditor Joseph DiNucci, a former boxer.

In fact the last group to inform Marchand of the appointment was probably the Boxing Commission, as his letter of confirmation did not arrive until Friday. According to the letter signed by Governor Argeo Paul Cellucci, Marchand will serve on the Commission until January 31.

Governor Cellucci wrote, "Your experience and sound judgement will contribute substantially to the Commission throughout your tenure."

Manzello said that it would be unlikely for Marchand not to be appointed to a full term after this one year term expires.

This is just the latest phase in Marchand's boxing career. Although he has never been a boxer, Marchand said his interest in the fight game goes back at least 35 years.

"I've always been interested in boxing," Marchand said.

He noted that his brother, Bob, who also served on the Reading Police force before retiring was a boxer as was their father, Bill, who boxed in the 1920's.

However, it was about 35 years ago when Marchand started to attend the Golden Gloves (amateur boxers) regional championships in Lowell. He explained that the amateurs would get the New England Regional Title and then go on to the nationals.

Watching the amateur fights got Marchand interested in attending some of the professional fights that were held in Boston and to also watch them on television.

It was about 15 years ago when a former commissioner and the boxing coach at Harvard University, Tom Rawson, met Marchand and started to get him involved in the game as a judge.

Over the years, Marchand said he believes the fighters are getting better.

"As good as they were in the past, especially the heavyweights, they are getting bigger," Marchand said.

He noted that Brockton's Rocky Marciano was only 195 pounds and today's boxers are fighting at a weight of about 250 pounds.

Another significant change is the entry of women into the fight game, as of late.

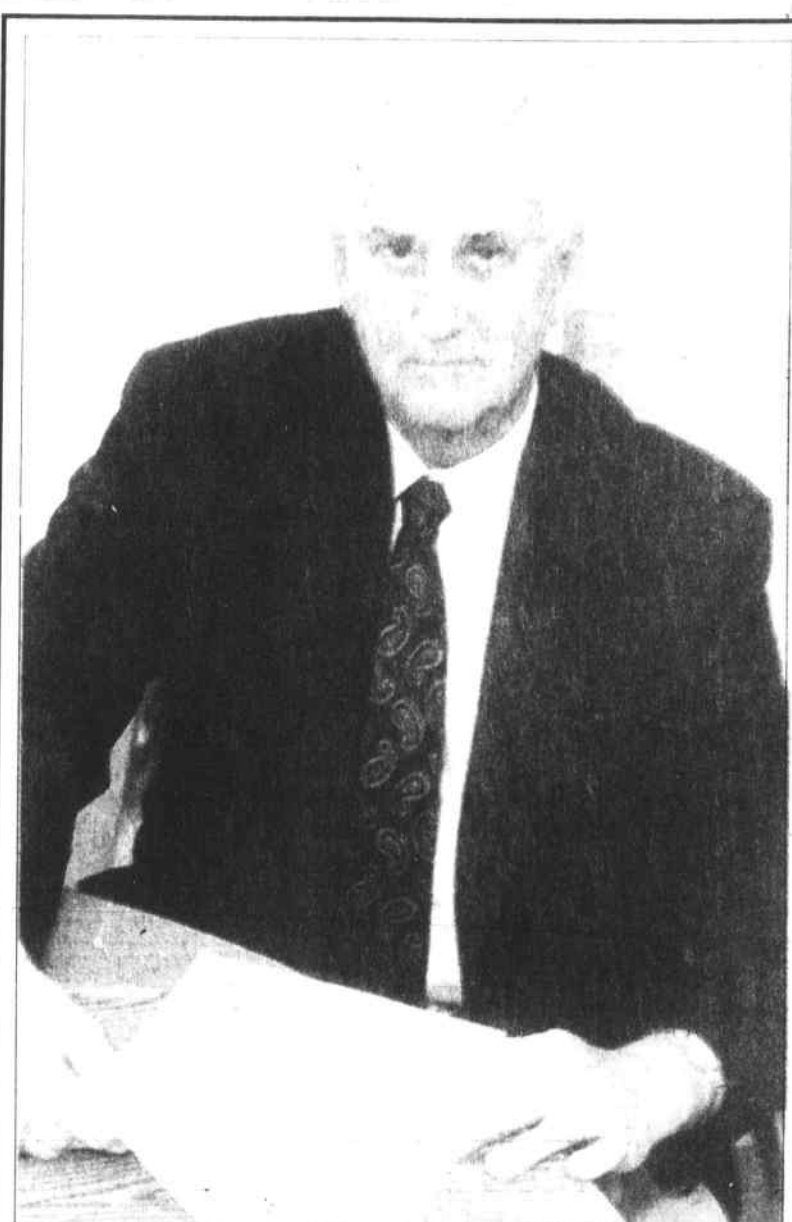

According to Marchand, the different training techniques that are being practiced today are leading to increased fighting skills on the part of the boxers.

"Other than that it hasn't changed much since the turn of the century," Marchand said.

In the ring itself some changes have been made over the years where the championship bouts used to go 15 rounds they now only last 12 three-minute rounds.

One thing that Marchand has had to watch for is the slight dif-

I have found that most people are KIND, and, Generous to a fault. I asked a blind man who had a newspaper stand in a building in Boston, I suppose people sometimes give you a one dollar bill telling you it's a five?" "No sir Chipper, it's just the opposite."

Folks, God can do wonders with a broken heart if, we give Him all the pieces.

I remember during the depression of the 1930's when everyone in the neighborhood cared for one another. My mother said to me, "go up the street and find out how old Mrs. Matthews is today." I came back and said, "Ma, Mrs. Matthews said, "it's none of your business how OLD she is today."

Education is what we get when we READ the FINE PRINT. EXPERIENCE, when we, DON'T.

A jeweler told my cousin Mario's wife Maria, "that's a beautiful gold locket you have, I suppose you carry some sort of memento for sentimental reasons." "Yes," Maria said, there's a lock of Mario's hair inside." "Oh!" the jeweler exclaimed, "I'm sorry to hear that Mario is gone." "Oh Maria shouted, "he isn't BUT his HAIR is GONE."

Blackie Vega called up Mickey Reardon at four o'clock in the morning and shouted,

"come down right away and open up the barroom." "For crying out loud, can't you wait until Ten O'Clock for a drink?" "I don't want a drink, I want to get the heck OUT, you locked me in last night."

A doctor called up George

Gould and said, "your CHECK bounced, it came back!" "Oh Yeah? Well Doc so did my Arthritis."

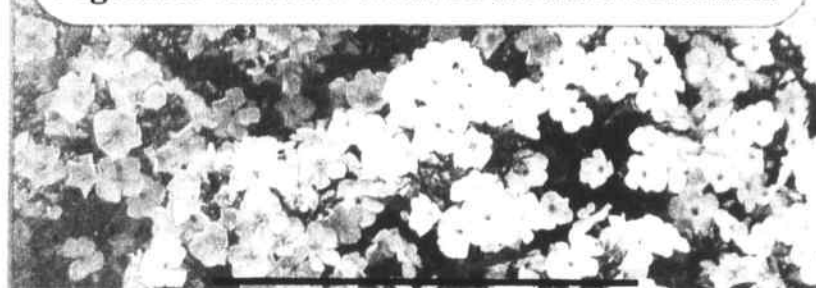

The Revenuers arrested a Hill Billy for running an Legal still in West Virginia.

Reunions Classmates are getting together

North Reading High School, Class of 1980 is planning a 20th Reunion and help is needed with a mailing list! We are looking for names, addresses and phone numbers of many classmates. Contact: Joyce (Windt) Brady 603-382-8456 or Sue (Casey) Murray 978-988-1418 or email to: NRHS1980Reunion@aol.com

We are planning an informal get together in November 2000. 3/8, 3/15 & 3/22

The English High School, Boston: Class of 1949 Plan Class Day Reunion on Wednesday, June 7, 2000 at Doyle's Pub, corner of Williams and Washington Streets in Boston's Jamaica Plain section directly across the street from the current English High at 1:30 a.m. for lunch.

Reservations are not necessary, but classmates planning to attend are urged to call (781) 665-2371 or (508) 877-1343 to inform the committee of their attendance. 3/8, 3/15 & 3/22

Middlesex East Publications will publish local "Reunion Notices" on a regular basis. Send information including School name, Date of Reunion, Reunion Location, and name and phone number of contact person to:

Middlesex East, P.O. Box 240, Reading, 01867

(Notices will run three times and will be restricted to groups and schools located north of Boston along the Routes 93 and 128 corridor.)

"Tourists in Our Town" event in Lowell May 20

On Saturday, May 20, the City of Lowell, the Greater Merrimack Valley Convention and Visitors Bureau (CVB) and Lowell National Historical Park invite residents from communities throughout Massachusetts and New Hampshire to be "Tourists in Our Town."

The event which runs from 10 am to 5 pm will offer families an opportunity to purchase a $1 passport which gives them free admission to Lowell's many museums and attractions along with incentives and discounts for restaurants and retail shops.

At each attraction, families will have the opportunity to visit the site, view exhibits, participate in an interactive family activity, and to have their passport stamped, with six stamps qualifying a family for entry into a "Lowell Experience" prize drawing.

Also providing activities for families will be other Lowell-based non-profits organizations who will gather at Lowell's JFK Plaza for a resource and activity fair.

This exciting event is being held to familiarize residents of Massachusetts and New Hampshire communities with Lowell's attractions, restaurants, and retail shops.

Summer credit course on school violence in Lynn

Help Stop Violence. North Shore Community College is offering an important new Interdisciplinary Studies Department course, School Violence, that teachers, criminal justice and human services professionals as well as area residents can take for college credit, CEU, PDP points or just for their own knowledge.

Joseph I. Cullen, long-time NSCC's Criminal Justice Program instructor, will teach the course using an interdisciplinary approach incorporating psychology, sociology, and criminal justice and human services studies to examine personality traits, societal structure, gang activity, and drug addiction issues.

"School violence has been front page news for some time," NSCC's Kristin Webb, Chairman of NSCC's Interdisciplinary Studies said. "We believe it's time to search for solutions to a far-reaching malaise which has deeply affected our youth."

The class will meet Monday and Wednesday evenings, 6:30 to 9:30 pm at NSCC's Lynn Campus, room LW 225. Summer Session I starts May 22. The course fulfills Liberal Arts, Social Science and Behavioral Science elective status.

For credit course registration information, please call Enrollment Services: 978-762-4044 or 781-593-6722 X4044. For further information on the course, email Kristin Webb: kwebb@nscc.mass.edu.

About The Towns by Phyllis Nissen

'Karen and Phil' in Reading

"Citing the move as a 'rebirth' of sorts, Reading Community Television, Inc. has already settled into their new home - an old but newly renovated control room owned by the Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) on Ash Street," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The new RCTV offices have a number of amenities, including a 21 foot by 21 foot broadcasting studio, a separate control room and editing suite, a master control room, and even a lounge for those times when a watchful eye isn't absolutely necessary."

"For RCTV's executive director Karen Hayden, and program director Phil Rushworth, the break from their old offices located in the bowels of RMHS, was a daunting but necessary move."

"I came in to look at [the facility] to see if it would work, and I figured out that it would work very well. As an independent, non-profit, leaving the high school environs will help us establish our own identity," said Hayden.

"Sometimes people couldn't tell the difference between us and the other companies that were there," added Rushworth.

"While Rushworth said at first he was skeptical about the move, he has come to fully embrace it."

"In the beginning, I was a skeptic," said Rushworth, "but now I'm thrilled to be here..."

"Fade to Black" in Stoneham - "Chances are you've seen one of the 48 movies made by a local film company named Random Foo Pictures and Pangaea Films," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

A little 'Ash,' a 'Random' flick, a 'viewscape' blossom

"You might have been channel-surfing one night and happened upon one of their flicks on a TV show called 'Fade to Black,' that airs on the local cable access station. If you have a cinematic knack for knowing creativity when you see it, the chances are also likely that you've been catching the show regularly."

"'Fade to Black' is but a vehicle for the final cuts. Here are the three men at the wheel who keep the engine humming in order to keep those reels spinning."

"Don Gorgone, who graduated from Stoneham High School and Bentley College, sat in the director's chair for the company's earliest films. In the time since, however, Gorgone has stepped out in front of the camera and given a number of performances. When the acting bug is not biting him, he writes and edits and maintains the group's website (www.randomfoo.com)"

"Jason Santo, who also graduated from Stoneham High School, is, in Gorgone's own words of high praise, 'the visionary of the group.' Santo studied film at Emerson College, so he writes many of the screenplays, oversees the films throughout their production and post-production, and helps keep 'Fade to Black' their version of four-star entertainment."

"C.C. Chapman, who lives in Watertown and graduated from Bentley with Gorgone, is the group's Public Relations Director. Chapman uses his communication skills and Internet savvy to keep the group interconnected with the film-making community. He also enjoys producing and joining Gorgone out front of the camera."

"You've no doubt been on the edge of your seat, wondering where the name 'Random Foo' comes from. Let's leave it up to Gorgone to reveal such a plot point for this article."

"The name 'Random Foo' was coined on the set of our first movie, 'Spontaneous Combustion,' begins Gorgone. 'The movie that we were about to shoot was completely random in nature, shot by a couple of random college guys. Also, filming began at midnight on April 2, 1996, so we had just celebrated April Fool's Day. Hence, we could consider ourselves a couple of 'random fools' who were making a movie. But 'foo' sounded better than 'fool...'"

Flower power in North Reading

"Months of negotiations between two major players in the cellular communications industry and the Community Planning Commission (CPC) came to an end when the board unanimously approved the applications of two companies seeking special permits to erect cellular transmission towers at the DRW complex off Chestnut Street and behind Boston Flower Market at 327 Main Street," notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"Bell Atlantic Mobile (BAM) is the lead company for the tower at the DPW site to be built by Crown Atlantic/Celco Partnership. AT&T Wireless is the lead company of the Boston Flower Market site and will build a tower of its own."

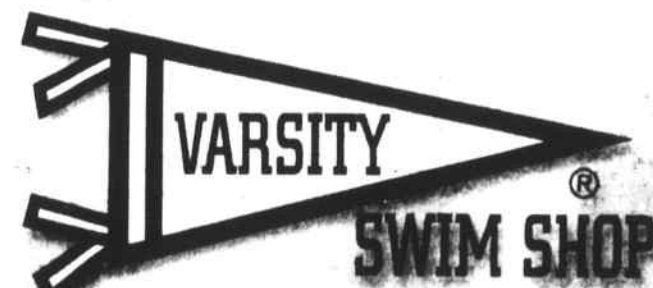

"Both special permits are subject to several special conditions imposed by the board. The DPW tower will have up to six standard triangular antennae arrays which will be 'disguised' by 'branches' and 'foliage' to make it appear to be a pine tree from those 'viewscape' in town determined to be the most visually impaired by the tower."

"Two balloon tests conducted by the company at 170 feet and 135 feet revealed that Liberty Lane would be among the neighborhoods most visually impacted by the tower, but the proponents believe the branches will make the tower 'disappear' into the surrounding treeline."

"The lower portions of the tower pole will also be painted to help it blend into its surroundings. The heights of the tallest pine trees in the area are 75 to 80 feet."

"The tower site being developed by AT&T Wireless at Boston Flower Market will be a 150-foot flagpole-style monopole without the flag. The antenna arrays for up to five cellular communications companies will be hidden inside the pole. To date, three companies are inter-ferences in the rules from state to state and from boxing association to boxing association. The differences can be subtle, according to Marchand. They could be whether or not a fight will be stopped if a mouthpiece is lost during the round.

Marchand

Marchand noted that all the participants in a fight discuss the rules before the bout gets started.

Once a fight gets started, it is up to the referee to control what goes on in the ring. The judges only allow the points that score the fight.

Those points are based on factors such as: the boxers punching ability; the way the jabs are made; the defensive techniques; the boxers aggressiveness or lack of it; and the type of blows being thrown.

"The defensive moves have to be good," Marchand said. "A good punch can be thrown but if it is blocked, it does not get points."

As for the mental state of the official, Marchand said, "Your mind has to be on the fight."

As an example, he told of the time he was judging a fight and a trainer collapsed and died just as the round was starting. The officials were so focused on the fight they including Marchand, did not know of the nearby death until the end of the round.

Marchand noted that Connecticut, with Foxwoods and Mohegan Sun gambling casinos, and Nevada get a lot of the fights. As a commissioner he would like to work toward bringing the professional sport back to Massachusetts.

Marchand said that the expenses involved with promoting the bouts today mean that the promoters need to put the fights on where television is able to air the fights.

"Over all what I have seen (of boxing) in this state has been pretty good," Marchand said. "(The commissioners) are all trying to do the right thing," Manzello said that he will be trying to have the Commission meet twice a month in Boston.

"I would like them to be in constant contact with each other," Manzello said.

He noted that no one commissioner will have to shoulder the responsibility for any one issue.

"We will vote on everything," Manzello said.

The duties include: seeing to public safety and making sure that there are police and emergency medical technicians at the fights; licensing the fighters, trainers, seconds, and promoters; approving the fight cards; and making sure that the payments are made.

The Commission oversees professional and amateur boxing, as well as kick boxing. There are 16 or 17 deputy commissioners that attend the fights.

According to Marchand, the professional boxers can usually appeal an official's decision to the Association sponsoring the fight. However, if it is a championship fight the appeal may go to the Commission. He added that the Commission has the power to withhold a purse until a decision has been made on an appeal.

The only problem Marchand can see with the appointment is that he will no longer be able to judge a fight in Massachusetts. However, it will not stop him from traveling to other states and countries.

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA QUESTION: Isaac Murphy was pleased about his association with the trio of Buchanan, Riley, and Kingman. Why? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

WILMINGTON'S CATHERINE TOWNSEND is a starter on the Stonehill College softball team. Heading into the final week of the year, she was hitting .300 with three doubles and 10 RBIs.

Manager George Hines announced that the AMERICAN LEGION POST 62 Baseball team will be holding a registration/information night on Thursday, May 18 2000 at the Legion Hall located at 37 Ash St. from 7:30-9 p.m.

American Legion Baseball is the premier amateur baseball program in the country for players in the 16-18 year-old age group. The Post 62 team draws on players from READING, NORTH READING AND WILMINGTON and any interested players are urged to attend the registration and discuss the program.

The Legion team plays in Zone 5 which consists of 21 teams from Middlesex County. The team's 20 game schedule will commence on June 11 vs. Somerville. Successful teams from Zone 5 will be eligible to compete in Zone, State and

Defying Gravity at Merrimack Rep

Merrimack Repertory Theatre closes its 1999/2000 season with Jane Anderson's tender, funny, and exhilarating tribute to astronaut/teacher Christa McAuliffe, DEFYING GRAVITY. In addition to being the theatre's season finale, this regional premiere of DEFYING GRAVITY also represents the seventh play in MRT's New Century Series.

DEFYING GRAVITY previews May 12 through May 16, and runs through June 11 with performances Wednesdays through Sunday. Tickets for DEFYING GRAVITY can be purchased at MRT's box office located at 50 E. Merrimack St. in Lowell or by calling 978-454-3926. Information is available on-line at www.mrtlowell.com.

Regional tournaments in Warwick, Rhode Island. Success there can lead to the Legion Baseball World Series which will be held this year in Alton, Illinois.

Legion baseball is very proud of their prestigious program which has produced National Baseball Hall of Fame players such as Carl Yastrzemski, George Brett, Tom Seaver, Rollie Fingers, Jim Palmer, Bob Gibson, Johnny Bench, Catfish Hunter, Yogi Berra, Stan Musial and many others. Former Red Sox players Roger Clemens and Mo Vaughn are among the many pros who have been honored as American League Baseball Graduates of the Year.

Reading Post 62 has a long tradition of participating in Legion baseball and is committed to supporting the team through this excellent program. Any questions can be directed to Coach Hines at 781-942-0641.

ED LEYDEN AND KIM PENNEY are the co-directors of the camp. Leyden founded the camp in 1989, and he presently serves as the head women's basketball coach at Suffolk University. Penney is the girls varsity basketball coach at Reading Memorial High School.

The camp's staff is comprised of quality coaches and players from the varsity high school and college level. One-on-one attention is given to each camper.

The Reading Girls Basketball Camp is designed to work on the specific needs of middle school and junior high school players who plan on competing at the high school level. The focus is on teaching solid fundamentals of basketball in a condensed, more varied and more fun approach than the "traditional" eight hour camp.

Campers receive individual attention and instruction and their age and ability are evaluated and considered when forming teams. The enclosed facility keeps all campers out of the rain and hot sun.

The cost for the entire 17-hour week is $100. If more than one child in a family attends, special rates apply. Each camper will receive a t-shirt and player evaluation.

Reading girls basketball camp has been sold out the last eight summers! Enrollment is limited and applications are accepted on a first-come, first-serve basis.

For more information and a camp brochure, call (978) 664-2143 or (781) 245-7068.

THE NORTH READING BASEBALL SCHOOL will be conducting its camp during the following one-week sessions: June 26 and July 10. All one week sessions are held from 9 am to 3:30 pm daily. Tuition is $150 and includes daily lunch, soda, t-shirt and cookout.

Specialty camps for pitchers, catchers or hitting will be held July 6 and 7, at a cost of $65. For more information call Frank Carey at 781-595-5628 or write to:

The Challenger Division of the Wakefield Little League is ready to start another busy season. The league is open to physically and mentally challenged children of all ages who would like to play Little League Baseball, including wheelchair children.

Games are held on Tuesday evenings and Saturday mornings and are open to children of all skill levels and any town. There is a small registration fee which will be waived for any family experiencing financial hardship.

For more information contact coaches STEPHEN CONROY at 944-7820 x. 238 or MAUREEN AND JOHN KOHLER at 245-4647.

"Need some clues to help out with the above-mentioned trivia question? He won championships with them."

BURLINGTON'S MIKE FANTASIA is rowing in the sixth seat this year for the freshman lightweights rowing team at Harvard University.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: Isaac Murphy was pleased about his association with the trio of Buchanan, Riley and Kingman because they were the three horses which he won the Kentucky Derby with (in 1884, 1890, and 1891).

DO YOU KNOW SOMETHING WE DON'T? If you have information about a local athlete that you would like to see appear in this column, please mail it to: Paul Feely, Middlesex East Sports, P.O. Box 240, Reading, Ma., 01867, or call Paul at 781-944-2200 between 7 am and 3:30 pm, Monday through Friday, or fax information at 781-942-0884.

Among the historical treasures to be exhibited are items from President Kennedy's private collections of scrimshaw, tall ship models, and maritime paintings; the 26-foot sailboat Victoria he sailed all his life on Cape Cod; and artifacts relating to his World War II service in the U.S. Navy, including the coconut shell on which he scratched the message that brought the rescue of his crew after their PT boat was sunk by an enemy ship.

For further information, contact Tom McNaught at (617) 929-1230.

CONCERT TO BENEFIT HOMELESS

Sandra Hebert and Elaine Kwon, duo-pianists will perform a benefit concert for the Harvard Square Homeless Shelter at John Knowles Paine Concert Hall, Harvard University on Sunday, May 21 at 7 p.m.

For further information contact Sandra Hebert at (617) 552-1765.

DERVISH AT SOMERVILLE THEATRE

World Music will present Dervish on Saturday, June 3, 8 p.m. at the Somerville Theatre, 55 Davis Square, Somerville. Tickets are $25 and $20 and are available at the Somerville Theatre box office and all TicketMaster outlets. For information and to charge tickets call World Music (617) 876-4275.

Hailing from Ireland's County Sligo, Dervish plays a sparkling brand of traditional Irish music. Dervish features Cathy Jordan's crystalline voice soaring above an intricate interplay of accordion, flute and fiddle. The seven-person band's sound is locked down by the rhythms of mandola, mandolin, guitar and bouzouki.

World Music is funded in part by the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency which also receives support from the National Endowment for the Arts.

For more information contact Susan Weiler at (617) 876-4275.

MEMORIAL DAY TRIBUTE

On Wednesday, May 31 at 7 p.m. the Charlestown Chorale will present a musical tribute to the everyday heroes past and present who fought for freedom and won the battles both at home and far away.

This concert is free and open to the public. It will take place at the Great Hall of Faneuil Hall in downtown Boston, long known as the "Cradle of Liberty" and lasting symbol of the pride and perseverance of our nation.

The Charlestown Chorale, under the direction of Christina Wilhelm, is a non-profit singing group performing programs for various special occasions and events throughout the year.

Please contact Angela Papierski at (617) 242-1503 or Christina Wilhelm at (617) 241-9091 for further information.

ANNUAL PICNIC AND RELIGIOUS FESTIVAL

The annual picnic and religious festival in honor of St. Anthony will be celebrated on the grounds of Franciscan Center, Andover, on June 4.

This joyful event has been held each year on the grounds of the former St. Francis Seminary for the past 50 years.

It has become a day of family reunion as well as a day of religious devotion for thousands of people from the cities and towns in the Greater Boston area.

Masses will be celebrated at 11 am and 12 noon. The blessing of the Sick takes place at 2pm, followed by a procession with the statue and relic of St. Anthony. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be celebrated outdoors after the procession. The Franciscan friars invite you to join in this special day of devotion and family fun. The entrance gate will open at 9 am.

This Sunday
Annual Reading Rotary Road Race

The Reading Rotary Club will hold its annual Road Race in Reading on Sunday, May 21 and will feature a 5 mile road race and 1 1/2 mile fun run. The race has become one of the most popular in this area and features one of the largest turnouts of any road race in the greater Boston area.

Reading Rotary President KC Latham will be the director of the race and as always, everything is planned to the finest detail to insure a well run and enjoyable race. A majority of the membership of the Reading club will also be on hand that day to aid and assist competitors before, during and after the race. Everything will be handled in a first class fashion.

The race will be limited and it is advised that pre-registration through the mail is the best way to guarantee a slot. As always, the race will begin at the Reading/Wakefield YMCA, to the rear of the Reading Memorial High School, and will wind its way through Reading's back roads before ending up back at the "Y."

There will be a number of categories and trophies to match in both the male and female areas as well as for the young and the old. No one has been left out. If a person enjoys running, there is a category in the Reading Rotary Road Race.

The specific details of the race are:

There is a pre-entry fee of $8.00 and post entry fee of $10.00 for the 5 mile race. and all proceeds will go to the Reading Scholarship Fund Inc. The first 200 registered runners will get a free Tee-shirt

Categories are:

- 5 mile race: Male & Female 19 and under; 20 to 29; 30 to 39; 40 to 49; 50 and over. Gov. signs new mental health bill

People with serious mental illness covered under medical insurance plans will be guaranteed the same benefits as individuals with other physical ailments, thanks to the state's new mental health insurance parity law. With more than 100 people looking on, Governor Paul Cellucci last week signed legislation that levels the playing field for mentally ill individuals. The law eliminates the discriminatory insurance practices facing many people with psychiatric disorders, while protecting their confidentiality.

"By abolishing the double standard that has existed in the Commonwealth for far too long, people with severe and persistent mental illnesses can receive the treatment they need without exhausting their personal savings or that of their family," said Governor Cellucci. "We have made great strides in Massachusetts in ensuring that people with psychiatric disorders receive the best possible care. The law takes this a step further. Massachusetts likes to lead; we don't like to follow," the Governor said in referring to the fact that the state joins 30 other states, including all of the other New England states, in adopting parity.

The law provides full mental health insurance benefits for children, adolescents under 19, and adults who have biologically based brain disorders such as schizophrenia, severe mental illness and bipolar disorders. In addition, insurers are required to provide a minimum of 60 days of inpatient care and 24 outpatient visits for non-biologically based disorders, such as adjustment disorders.

Psychiatric assessments and medication visits will be covered in full and will not be counted as part of the 24 outpatient visits.

Towns From S-3

ested in co-locating at the site in addition to AT&T; Omnipoint, Cellular One and Sprint.

"BAM was not interested in this site because it does not fall within its coverage needs. The sixth carrier licensed to operate in the state, Nextel, was the last to express an interest to AT&T for a co-location on the pole, therefore, Nextel would have been required to take the lowest height on the pole.

"Nextel declined to co-locate, however, because its equipment could not be accommodated at a height inside a monopole lower than 143 feet. This would have pushed the height of the pole up to 188 feet, based on the priority order of the other interested carriers. AT&T chose not to pursue this option based on prior discussions with the CPC that such a height would be unacceptable due to the impact on nearby residential neighborhoods.

"In an effort to help the monopole blend into the skyline from various viewpoints in town, especially Martins Pond, AT&T will be required to paint it in shades of blues, grays and white. Another proposal favored by the board - making the pole vanish from the skyline by covering it with material to reflect the clouds, sky and trees - was subsequently dismissed...."

Advanced applications are available at the Reading YMCA, Reading Rec Dept in Town Hall and Johnson's Hardware. They may be mailed to Reading Rotary, P.O. Box 61, Reading, MA 01867 or by calling 781-944-6171.

Directions to race: From 128 (I-95) take Rte. 28 Exit North, go through Reading Center and past town cemetery, take left at next set of lights on to Birch Meadow Drive. Go past Coolidge Middle School and take next right on Arthur B. Lord Drive.

ing his daily afternoon walk. "Oh, Oh!" Uncle John said to himself, "here comes a lecture about the evils of drinking." So, he asked quickly, "father who won the Cadillac at the church raffle?" "Oh," Fr. Murphy said, "the bishop won wasn't he lucky?" "Well, who won the second prize, who won the Buick?" "The monsignor won and wasn't he lucky?" "Well, who won the last prize, who won the Chevy?" The pastor won and by the way John how many tickets did you buy?" "Not a darn one." Uncle

John blurred out and "wasn't I LUCKY!"

Later on in years, Uncle John Shea was a resident at the Chelsea Soldier's Home. His bosom friend, Rowan Fitzgerald went up to visit, walked in an asked, "how are you feeling today John?" "What did you say?" "I asked you, how are you feeling today?" "What! are you getting deaf?" "No," Uncle John replied with a twinkle in his eyes, "I've been hear for two weeks without a drop to drink and YOUR breath Rowan is like a 'breeze' from heaven."

Blackie Vega told his son, "alright go skiing if you want BUT if you fall and break your leg, don't come running to me."

Angelo Quageniti got a job painting the white line down the middle of a highway. The first day he painted a line a mile long. The second day only 1/2 mile long and the third day only twenty feet long. The foreman called him into the office and asked, "why are you slowing down?" "Gee, Angelo explained, "the paint bucket keeps getting further and further away."

"Women's Wellness Connection" program

MALDEN - Women are always dreaming of that "special someone." The perfect partner who showers her with love, gifts and encouragement, and asks for nothing in return but her total well being. Now, thanks to Hallmark Health, that dream of the perfect partner can come true for women of all ages - with the Women's Wellness Connection.

This unique membership program connects members to crucial health information that every woman should know to live a healthy life, with the added benefit of discounts at local businesses, educational programs and health screenings. Retailers who are offering discounts through the program include Runner's Edge, the Dockside Restaurant, Super Fitness and Four Winds Travel.

A key part of the membership includes a health assessment to help identify risk factors and offers valuable information for women and their health care providers to discuss.

Members learn about osteoporosis, breast health, menopause, stress management, nutrition, alternative therapies

George Gould found out that after taking a certain elixir his hearing showed a remarkable improvement. George wrote a letter to the pharmaceutical company saying, "Sirs, after taking your product for two weeks, I heard from my brother in California."

and much more through a variety of resources, including a special quarterly newsletter and member - only health events.

Upon joining the "Women's Wellness Connection," members receive a navy tote bag filled with useful items and information, including a women's planner, wellness book, bookmark and a breast exam model. Each member receives her personal membership card with an identification number that she can then use for discounts at many locations in and around her community.

"We at Hallmark Health wanted to develop something unique that would be exclusively for women which would provide them with many resources" says Chris Candio, RN, Hallmark Health Director of Women's and Children's Services. "The 'Women's Wellness Connection' is also a vehicle to demonstrate the commitment of Hallmark Health to the health and wellness of women in the communities we serve. We are very excited about it, and we believe women will reap many benefits from this program."

A membership in the "Women's Wellness Connection" makes an ideal gift for any mom, sister, and wife. And it can make a great gift for you! The membership fee is $25 and remains in effect until December 31, 2001.

Interested women can call 781-338-7561 for a registration form or register online www.hallmarkhealth.org.

Hallmark Health is a not-for-profit community hospital system, serving an estimated 400,000 residents in 15 communities north of Boston. In addition to its four medical campuses in Everett, Medford, Melrose, and Malden, Hallmark Health includes home health agencies, hospice care services, a family practice residency, a school of nursing, multiple physician practices, and three long-term nursing facilities.

Recommendations

Fight osteoporosis

Osteoporosis, the weakening and thinning of bones, affects nearly 23.4 million Americans, both men and women, and often leads to dangerous fractures and hospitalizations for many. During the month of May, National Osteoporosis Month, the National Osteoporosis Foundation recommends that all adults learn more about osteoporosis and what they can do to reduce their risk factors for brittle bones.

The health of bones can be affected by risk factors such as a calcium-poor diet, physical inactivity, reduced levels of estrogen that occur after menopause, heredity, being underweight, smoking and excessive use of alcohol. Women are at a higher risk for osteoporosis mainly because of pregnancy and breastfeeding, which require extra calcium. Women who are Caucasian or Asian, especially those with a family history of osteoporosis, have a greater risk of developing the disease. Researchers estimate that between 40 and 60 percent of women have abnormally low bone density, which may eventually deteriorate into osteoporosis if not treated.

To help detect osteoporosis, the National Osteoporosis Foundation advises a bone density screening for all postmenopausal women under the age of 65 with risk factors of osteoporosis, as well as all women over 65, regardless of the presence of risk factors.

Bone density is the specific measurement of your bone strength. In the same way blood pressure measurements can help predict a stroke, a bone density screening can accurately predict which bones may fracture as a result of osteoporosis.

Bone density test are quick, painless and non-invasive. They can save you from incapacitating fractures later in life. The dual X-ray absorptiometry technique used by Hallmark Health focuses on two main areas - the hip and the spine. Both are hot spots for fractures as a result of osteoporosis, but finding your bone density in these places helps predict the likelihood of fractures in other areas of the body.

Both men and women of all ages can take steps to protect the health of their bones, and the earlier we begin in life, the better as we age. The National Osteoporosis Foundation recommends the following to combat osteoporosis:

- Exercise since it strengthens bones and decreases the rate of bone loss.

- Manage weight since being overweight causes stress and

Hallmark Family Open House

In celebration of its first year of success and accomplishments for many young families in the area, Hallmark Health's North Suburban Family Network will host an Open House at its new location in Stoneham on Saturday, May 20 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Hallmark's North Suburban Family Network is a community-based family support and education program which brings together families in the communities of Melrose, Stoneham and Wakefield to meet the needs of parents, caregivers and children from birth to age 4. It is funded by a grant from the Massachusetts Department of Education through the Melrose Public Schools.

All are invited to attend the free event which will feature live entertainment and fun activities geared for children age four and under, including live music by Wildest Dreams and Groovy Baby, puppeteer Claire DiMeo, face painting, craft activities and more. A ribbon cutting ceremony is scheduled for noon, followed by a reading of favorite children's stories by guests from the community and Hallmark Health. Local community legislators, leaders, and school officials are expected to attend the Open House. Refreshments and food will be served.

MOVIE REVIEWS

BY PAUL FEELY

"Battlefield Earth" heinous sci fi

MOVIE: "BATTLEFIELD EARTH"
GRADE: *

Review: John Travolta should be ashamed for pushing to have the "fun" made which is one of the most heinous science fiction flicks to hit the big screen since Wet Hot American Summer.

The film takes place three centuries into the future, and Earth has been taken over by a race of aliens who are self-absorbed and interested in impressing their bosses, while oppressing human, who are called man animals. Travolta plays a commander in the alien army who notices that one of the man animals has the potential to become a leader and therefore a threat to the current order of their little universe. The humans rise up, and a battle of supposedly epic proportions breaks out.

The plot has more holes in it than an old pair of my socks, while Travolta brings very little to the film, which is surprising, since he is the sole reason it was made. The novel it is based on was written by Scientology founder L. Ron Hubbard, of which Travolta is a firm believer. The special effects are nice to look at, but the film is good for little else.

SHORTTAKES
MOVIE: "GLADIATOR"
GRADE: ***

Review: Russell Crowe stars in this bloody thriller that weighs in heavily on the action side but slightly thin on the plot side.

Crowe, an Academy Award nominee for his outstanding performance in The Insider, again turns in a strong outing as Maximus, a Roman general who refuses to serve the new Caesar, played by Joaquin Phoenix in a breakout performance, who took power under dubious circumstances. Because of his insubordination, Maximus' wife and son are killed, and he sets out to have his revenge after being sold as a slave to fight in the gladiator competitions.

The plotline is very similar to Mel Gibson's Braveheart, though this reviewer felt the fight sequences in Gladiator are much more bloody. Though the story may sound familiar, the fight sequences are outstanding and Crowe's performance make for an enjoyable outing.

MOVIE: "AMERICAN PSYCHO"
GRADE: ***

Review: Is he a psychotic killer or isn't he? That's the question in this intense yet humorous film.

Christian Bale plays a 1980s yuppie who happens to enjoy mutilating people in his spare time. On the outside he appears to be a physically fit, socially accepted man, but inside he shares no traits with human beings other than flesh and bones. He says he has no emotions, and is a cold-hearted killer.

Or is he? There are suggestions late in the movie that the killer may simply be fantasizing about anyone who crosses his path. The film is well-acted (though gory), and is an insightful look at the me-me-me culture of the 1980s set to a killer soundtrack of 80s pop hits.

MOVIE: "U-571"
GRADE: ***

Review: Matthew McConaughey heads up a strong cast in this World War II thriller.

German U-boats have been sinking American ships with alarming frequency and accuracy, and an American crew has been sent to intercept one to get a piece of equipment, called the Enigma - a sort of decoder - so that the direction the war at sea is taking can be turned around. The mission is successful, but in the process the Americans lose their ship.

They now are piloting the German U-boat, hunted not only by fellow Americans who think their distress calls are a Nazi trick, but by the German navy as well.

The action is slick, the performances are strong, and the storyline brings to life a part of American history that has rarely been told on screen.

MOVIE: "HIGH FIDELITY"
GRADE: ***

Review: John Cusack puts in another strong performance in this tale of a man searching for happiness in a relationship.

Cusack plays Rob Gordon, a 30-something man in Chicago that runs a record shop. He has had a string of failed relationships, dating back to when he was 14, and has recently broken up with the woman he has been living with for a few years. He decides to go back and talk with each one of the women involved in his personal 'Top Five Breakups', and find out what went wrong with the relationship.

What happens next is a deep, thoughtful look at relationships from a man's point of view, and the hurt they experience when they lose a loved one, or are rejected.

Cusack is very good, as is Jack Black, who plays a hyperactive employee in the record store. Tim Robbins is also very good in a small role.

MOVIE: "ERIN BROCKOVICH"
GRADE: ***

Review: Julia Roberts has another hit on her hands as the title role in this true story about a receptionist in a legal firm whose perseverance and determination help win a $333 million lawsuit against Pacific Gas and Electric in California.

Roberts plays Brockovich, who takes a job as a secretary in a law firm run by Albert Finney's character. While filing paperwork in a pro bono real estate case she finds medical records for families that live near a power plant, noticing that many of them have leukemia and other serious health problems.

She investigates further, and finds that the power plant they live near is likely responsible for the problems, and even worse,

Minuteman Trolley has ghosts and gravestones tour

Minuteman Trolley Tours of Boston and Cambridge combines some of Boston's gravest moments with a good dose of humor to present The Ghosts & Gravestones Tour.

From May 4 to November 1, the fully-narrated two-hour tour departs each Thursday through Sunday at dusk from the Marriott Copley Place, located at 110 Huntington Ave. in Boston.

In cooperation with the Boston Parks & Recreation Dept., the tour includes a walk through some of the city's most interesting burial grounds hosted by an 18th century gravedigger. A portion of tour proceeds benefit The Historic Burial Grounds Initiative.

The city's premier "frightseeing" excursion into the macabre whisks guests on a spine-tin-gling trolley ride through the same streets that were once stalked by The Boston Strangler and where 17th century witches and heretics met their end. Presenting a light-hearted look at Boston's darker side, "Ghosts & Gravestones" conductors share the tales other tours won't divulge, including:

- The exact weight of a ghost
- John Wilkes Booth's target practice in Boston only days before he assassinated Abraham Lincoln
- Boston Harbor's mythical Lady in Black
- The North End's famous Brink's Robbery

the company knows about the health problems. A lawsuit ensues, and the plot becomes a modern version of David and Goliath.

This plays like 'A Civil Action' on the West Coast, but Roberts does a much better job in conveying the human side of her character than John Travolta did in 'Action'. Finney turns in a strong performance as well, as do all the supporting actors.

- Boston's Great Molasses Spill
- The real story behind Boston-native Edgar Allen Poe's grisly "Cask of Amontillado."
- Boston's own Bogeyman
- The ghosts of Beacon Hill
- The book that was bound in Human skin and more.

The Ghosts & Gravestones specialty tour lets us share a few of the lesser known facts relating to Boston's more mysterious past. While the tour is historically accurate, it's also presented in good fun.

WOBURN - The Woburn Office of Carlson/GMAC Real Estate was named a winner in the 2000 Best of Show Awards Program. The firm's winning entry was: A Brochure - Woburn's Water Supply, Clean and Safe, and was chosen from hundreds of entries. The Best of Show Awards Program is designed to honor outstanding local marketing and public relations ideas of GMAC Real Estate member firms. The winning entry of Carlson/GMAC Woburn was displayed at the GMAC Real Estate Convention held in San Francisco, California, March 26-30, 2000. Carlson was honored before the Brokers, Managers and Sales Professionals in attendance.

"The Carlson/GMAC Woburn Office was selected as a winner because of its outstanding contribution to the community in which it does business and in tying in to the GMAC Real Estate business philosophy," said Allen Sabbag, President of GMAC Real Estate.

Paula Suffredini, Manager of the Woburn Carlson office, initiated the formation of the concept to prepare a brochure to be used in the City of Woburn to update citizens on the status of the Woburn water systems and quality. With the help of Todd Lamothe, Marketing Manager of the Woburn Corporate Office of Carlson/GMAC, who produced the piece, this brochure became a reality and has been distributed to taxpayers in their water bills. Michael Wells, a very talented local citizen, created the artwork for the brochure cover.

The project took some months for completion with fantastic cooperation among Mayor Dever, his assistant, Tom Smith and Todd Lamothe of Carlson Corporate.

Carlson/GMAC is proud of its ongoing involvement in the communities in which they do business. In Woburn, this local office contributes constantly to community activities, such as the recent Horn Pond Cleanup, the nearby Winchester Hospital Big Steps for Little People Walkathon and regionally donating time and money to Angel Flight as volunteer fund raisers and Earth Angel drivers.

Your home:Q & A

Question: Is there a way to guard against termites without pumping toxic insecticide into the ground around our home?

Answer: Yes. If you're constructing a new home, install metal termite shields between foundation walls and wood sills, and around pipes entering the soil from the house structure above. In addition, foundation walls should extend at least 6 inches above ground level, and the distance between joists and soil in crawlspaces should be a minimum of 18 inches.

To submit a question, write to Popular Mechanics, Reader Service Bureau, 224 W. 57th St., New York, NY 10019. The most interesting questions will be answered in a future column.

Common sense home security

Have you done all you can to sense some simple upgrades and good solid lighting may be break in? A little common just what you need to help protect you and your property.

Chris Carter, an expert with The Home Depot, offers the following suggestions as the first step toward feeling safer and making your home less attractive to burglars.

Use Common Sense

Avoid being an easy target by making your home look difficult to enter. Criminals don't want to work too hard to get in. Never hide keys in predictable spots. It's best to get to know your neighbors - they can keep your key for emergencies and keep an eye on your home when you're away.

Update your Garage Door Opener

If you have an attached garage, here's some important news. One of the most popular ways to enter a home is by stealing garage door opener codes. You have a one in ten chance

Don't forget to..... Safety steps for going on vacation

Are you the type of traveler who leaves the house only to return a few minutes later to make sure the toaster is unplugged? If this sounds familiar, you may want to attach the following checklist to your refrigerator if you're planning a vacation this summer.

- ✓ Turn your main water valve off.
- ✓ Secure all of your doors and windows.
- ✓ Make sure your stove is turned all the way off.
- ✓ Pull plugs on appliances to protect from a power surge (i.e. computers, televisions, etc.)

- ✓ Install timers on interior lights so it looks like you're home.
- ✓ Install motion or photo sensors for exterior lighting.
- ✓ Clean up your yard so that all debris is removed and all patio furniture is secured, in case of a storm.
- ✓ Make arrangements for having your grass cut if you are away a long time.
- ✓ Ask your neighbors to keep an eye on your house.
- ✓ Contact the post office and newspaper to hold your deliveries until you return.

that a criminal can use a generic opener with a code that matches your home, unless your opener is digital. The latest digital openers, change those odds to one in 4.5 billion.

Make your Home Look Occupied

Use inexpensive timers that will periodically turn on lights throughout your house. Consider leaving a television or stereo on when you're out.

Illuminate Entryways

Another major deterrent for burglars is a well-lit home. Keep extra bulbs on hand to replace outdoor lights as soon as they burn out. Install a motion-activated light for all shaded areas around your home.

Secure Doors and Locks

Start with a quality door, preferably steel with wood or steel frames. Use deadbolts with long screws that firmly attach the lock's plates to your door frame. Buy a security door with iron grates for added protection.

Check Out the Windows

Use window guards or pins for windows with easy access. Sliding glass doors should be wedged shut with a block of wood or a large plastic tube.

Block Decks and Porches

Make it tough to enter your home from unseen areas, especially if these spots lead from your backyard to your back door.

School Notes

by Phyllis Nissen

Welcome to the wonder of it all

'Collab' works wonders in Burlington

"Students from Burlington High School, Burlington, were recently recognized by the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE) when their literary magazine, Collab, earned 'Highest Award' status in the NCTE Program to Recognize Excellence in Student Literary Magazines," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"A total of 684 magazines from senior high, junior high and middle schools in the United States, Canada, and from American schools abroad were submitted, but only 49 received this recognition. The only other Massachusetts school recognized was Boston Latin School, Boston, for its magazine The Register."

"The student magazines were rated on the basis of quality of content, variety of writing included, and editing and proof-reading (maximum 80 points); and design/artistic aspects and front matter and pagination (maximum 20 points)."

"In the competition, 212 magazines were rated 'Superior,' 315 were rated 'Excellent,' and 135 were rated 'Above Average.' State-level competitions are judged by teams appointed by state leaders. 'Highest Awards' are made on the basis of a second judging of the magazines that earned 'Superior' ratings."

"July 1 is the deadline for submitting magazines to state leaders for judging in the 2000 Program to Recognize Excellence in Student Literary Magazines. Magazines entered must have been published between September 1999 and July 2000."

Imagination runs wonderful in Wilmington

"It's no stretch of the imagination that Wilmington high school students did so well during the 'Odyssey of the Mind' competition at Andover High School," notes the "Wilmington Town Crier."

"'Odyssey of the Mind' is an organization that champions the creativity and teamwork of students. Its program features a number of challenges that a team of students within a school agree to tackle throughout an academic year. Students approach a problem posed by 'Mind' in September, and then they take their solution to a multi-region competition held between other schools in the spring."

"'Odyssey of the Mind' journeyed to Wilmington four years ago at the North Intermediate School. Joanne Gustin, the Town Coordinator and, incidentally, the coach of the high school's 'Mind' team, approached Principal Doug Anderson with her concerns that the creative needs of some of the students were not being met. Anderson agreed and suggested that a certain program called 'Odyssey of the Mind' would be a good and productive way to engage the imaginations of the kids."

"The problems in this program aren't math problems, or anything else," says Gustin. "They're performance-oriented problems that have technical elements involved."

"In the last four years, 'Mind' has caught on with Wilmington schools like a steel trap. When the program was first joined by students in 1997, there were two teams within the school system. In 1998, that number more than doubled to five teams. Last year, nine teams embarked on the 'Odyssey' and this year twelve competed."

"Parents can join the students' teams as coaches, but their roles mainly call for them to be supportive. Coaches can ask questions to the students, in hopes that in the kids' answers will be some guidance, but they may not touch any of the props or offer any ideas."

"One hundred percent of the work has to be done by the students," stresses Gustin.

"For this year's challenges, students competed in a nonprofit program within 'Odyssey of the Mind' called 'Destination Imagination....'"

no win in Wakefield

"Logic clashed with emotion at Town Meeting, resulting in the defeat of the Article nine, All-day Kindergarten," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The vote of 80 to 135 shot down the article, which entailed funding All-day Kindergarten at an estimated cost of $814,000. This decision was reached after over two hours of public discussion on the topic."

"Numerous issues were brought to the table by supporters of both sides, and included a great deal of testimony from parents with children currently at or going into the kindergarten level."

"If you ask my child about kindergarten, he sounds like Tony the Tiger. He'll say 'It's grreat!'" described one parent in strong support of the implementation."

"Studies on the benefits of longer sessions became a popular point of reference, especially among the opposition, as parents stepped up to the microphone."

"The results are inconclusive regarding the academic benefit of kindergarten," cited Daniel Sherman of a recent study conducted in Indiana...."
